Truck Thief Caught After 3-County Chase

A tri-county chase involving law enforcement officers from Franklin, Ross and Pickaway Counties took place early this morning in pursuit of a man driving a stolen vehicle. The chase after John R. Earwood, 18, Greenup Ky., started near the intersection of Routes 23 and 317 in Franklin County when the truck was stolen from Rollins Leasing Company in Obetz.

Jerry V. Long, a mechanic at the leasing company gave chase after Earwood in the stolen truck. The

Auto Firm Breakup Hit

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors said today a proposed federal law which would break up the large auto companies to spur competition could do irreparable harm to the nation's economy.

The auto company said enactment of the proposed Industrial Reorganization Act would adversely affect consumers and workers, reduce industrial efficiency and raise prices.

In testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee hearing today in Washington, three GM officials defended the level of competition within the auto industry and said the proposed legislation is a punitive measure levied against the car makers.

A Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is hearing Hart's proposal to restructure seven major industries to increase competition.

Last week, a Chrysler Corp. official denied the auto industry is engaged in monopoly practices at the expense of the American car buyer.

Connally Investigated In Bribery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Columnist Jack Anderson said today that former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally is under investigation by Watergate prosecutors for alleged bribery.

Connally, who in recent months has addressed Republican groups and met with party leaders in more than 30 states in what may be an effort to line up support for a 1976 GOP presidential bid, denied the allegation.

In his column, Anderson said FBI investigators assigned to the special prosecutor's office have evidence that Connally pocketed $10,000 from Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy cooperative.

Anderson indicated the money changed hands in 1972, while Connally was still treasury secretary, but did not cite a specific date for the alleged transaction.

Anderson quoted FBI sources as saying the $10,000 was passed by a Milk Producers official to lobbyist Jake Jacobsen, who delivered it to Connally.

Jacobsen is under indictment for perjury after testifying that he stashed the $10,000 in a safe deposit box and never removed it until the FBI opened the box last November.

The indictment by a Watergate grand jury said Jacobsen claimed the money "was to be paid to a public official for his assistance" in getting President Nixon to raise federal milk price supports in March, 1971. The official was left unnamed in the indictment.

Anderson said the FBI sources told him that Connally returned the $10,000 when he learned the milk co-op was being investigated in connection with contributions to Nixon's re-election campaign.

Disaster Relief Bill Promoted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A disaster relief bill that could simplify delivery of aid to tornado-damaged Southern and Midwest communities was expected to reach the Senate floor this afternoon.

It won approval Tuesday in the Senate Public Works Committee and passage by the full Senate could send it to the House by Thursday, before the close of business for the Easter recess.

Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., rushed his bill through the Senate committee, citing the emergency needs of the 11 states struck by more than 300 tornadoes last week.

The measure attaches several new provisions to the 1970 Disaster Relief Act. Most are aimed at minimizing the red tape involved in obtaining federal aid.

President Nixon promised Xenia, Ohio, residents Tuesday to remove most of the stumbling blocks to aid.

One provision would allow federal reimbursement up to 75 per cent on state costs of providing aid to families whose needs are not met by existing programs. The ceiling would be $5,000 per family.

Another section would allow the President to make loans to local government equal to 25 per cent of the operating budget to make up any loss of tax base from storm damage.

A five-year economic recovery program, setting aside $200 million for grants and loans, would also be available to set up planning councils to chart the rebuilding of ravaged communities.

Oil Tanker Blast Kills 1, Injures 26

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Searchers plumbed the Delaware River today for eight persons missing from a Greek oil tanker that exploded and burned Tuesday night.

One man was killed and 26 persons were injured or suffered exposure after the tanker Elias erupted in a ball of flame while moored in the river.

Missing were five crewmen, plus a mother and her two children who were visitors on the ship, the Coast Guard said.

Chunks of steel were hurled into the air and burning oil spread on the surface of the river. The Coast Guard said the explosion occurred at the ship's middle tanks.

Crews began surveying for pollution from the spilled oil early today. It was not known how much oil escaped as a result of the explosion.

Flames roared through the 650-foot vessel for more than two hours at the Atlantic Richfield Co. pier near a sprawling complex of oil refineries in South Philadelphia before firemen brought the blaze under control.

"I couldn't see anything but flames," said Frank Kelly, a dock guard who witnessed the blast.

Rescuers and police told of crewmen from the burning tanker leaping from the ship into the frigid water.

Officials said the Elias was almost empty and was due to sail this morning. She had delivered 250,000 barrels of Venezuelan asphalt oil on Monday and was to finish pumping off by midnight Tuesday.

The blast left a gaping, 200-foot hole in the steel and concrete dock and damaged nearby cars and buildings.

"Everything happened very quick," said Joannis Soteris, a 26-year-old Greek crewman who was in the engine room at the time of the blast. "I grabbed a rope and got out like a monkey."

Authorities refused to speculate what caused the explosion, and they were unsure of the total complement of crew.

At least 10 of the 26 injured were listed in serious condition at three area hospitals.

One of the injured was William Gary, a janitor who was in a nearby building when the blast occurred.

All of the other injured were on board, including Merope Baltas, 23, the wife of one of the Elias' crewmen.

The explosion was heard from 25 miles away. One man called a local news bureau asking if there had been an earthquake.

Heavy Snow Hits Rockies, New England

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One April snowstorm swirled through the Rockies today, while another in New England began to subside after dumping up to 18 inches of snow on higher elevations.

Portions of the Salt Lake Valley were hit by 4 to 6 inches of snow during the early nighttime hours. Scattered rain and snow spread through the northern and central Rockies into the intermountain areas and Pacific Northwest.

Advisories for heavy snows and cold, wet weather were issued for portions of Montana, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, and North Dakota.

Although heavy-snow warnings were canceled for most of the Northeast, the snowfall was expected to continue today in the hardest-hit areas of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine.

The Lakes Region of central New Hampshire was buried by 13 inches of snow Tuesday. The Stratton Mountain ski area of southern Vermont received 18 inches less than 24 hours after the board of directors voted to install snowmaking machines.

Snow also continued during the night in northeastern Pennsylvania, and freezing temperatures crept into the southern Appalachians.

Elsewhere, winds gusting up to 60 m.p.h. mostly in desert areas of Arizona, Utah and California cut visibility with blowing sand and dust and created hazardous driving conditions.

Probe Shipment

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are investigating a large shipment of arms and explosives seized aboard a ship in Britain. British police said the shipment was believed to have been shipped from Canada to the guerrilla Irish Republican Army. Two Britons appeared briefly in a Southampton court Tuesday in connection with the case and were ordered held without bail.

The FDAA estimated the cost for the work, statewide, would be $3.5 million. Residents of the six counties hit by tornadoes were declared eligible by the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services for Disaster Unemployment Assistance.

The OBES said applications for the special aid would be processed in Adams, Butler, Greene, Hamilton, Madison and Warren counties.

The Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction said employees and inmates of the Lebanon and London correctional institutions had been made available for cleanup work in their areas.

President Nixon's Visit Gives Lift To Xenia Residents

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Small town hearts were stirred Tuesday when President Nixon toured this community nearly a week after a tornado spewed death and destruction through its center.

"It's truly lifted a lot of people's spirits around here," said Joan Anderson, a clerk in the Greene County Commissioner's office.

"For people from a small town, for the President to come and show his concern, it's done a lot for all our morale," she said.

"Xenia has suffered physically, but it has not suffered spiritually," Nixon told newsmen as he toured the rubblestrewn area. "I think the more it has suffered physically, the stronger it is spiritually. That speaks a lot for the people of this town."

Nixon spoke privately with county commissioners and city officials, pledging federal help and promising help to cut red tape for disaster victims.

He praised rebuilding efforts already underway. As he spoke, about 600 Ohio National Guardsmen continued clearing the debris spread out over nearly 80 per cent of the city.

"These people have lost their homes, their schools and their jobs," he said after one stop. "When we see these people smiling and saying, 'we're going to stick it out,' it's that kind of spirit that will help rebuild this town."

The President landed at Wright Patterson Air Force Base 10 miles away shortly before noon and flew by helicopter to Xenia.

"In terms of destruction—total devastation—this is the worst I've ever seen," he said on his arrival. The twister claimed 32 lives here, destroyed hundreds of homes and left thousands homeless.

He instructed his aides to "cut the red tape to the bare bone" to aid disaster victims.

The visit included stops at the city's Red Cross headquarters and the Greene County Building. He spent a few minutes at each location, chatting, shaking hands and answering reporters' questions.

Nixon's decision to visit Xenia was announced only a few hours before his arrival, and crowds were small, but friendly.

Some residents complained that the surprise visit and the barrage of newsmen surrounding the President made it impossible to get to him.

"I'm so disappointed. He was here and I missed him!" wailed Mrs. Pat Stuart after the President's motorcade pulled away from his final stop. "I dragged all four of my kids down here just to see him, and now he's gone," she said.

Xenia's tornado death toll rose to 32 Tuesday when two more victims died in hospitals. Sabina Ehret-DeJanarette, 13, died in Miami Valley Hospital and Mrs. Ivra Taylor, 33, died in the Wright-Patterson hospital.

The toll for the state climbed to 39, not counting the two guardsmen killed in a fire Saturday in a furniture store that had been ripped by the tornado.

As cleanup efforts continued, there were these other developments:

—Police in Xenia arrested two men, Mark Leroy Wilson, 23, and Gerry Robert Jack, 23, both of Xenia, on looting charges, the guard said.

The two were picked up in the city's Arrowhead section Friday evening, said the guard.

—Gilligan announced the availability of $100,000 to local law enforcement authorities to replace vehicles and equipment damaged in the tornadoes and to restore emergency communications systems.

—The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration said the U.S. Corps of Engineers has been assigned to contract with private firms in the area for

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a small gain today in trading interrupted for 26 minutes by an equipment failure at the New York Stock Exchange.

Trouble in data-processing equipment which feeds information to the ticker tapes caused a halt in trading from 11:09 to 11:35 a.m., the Big Board said.

The market had been advancing gradually before the halt and picked up at pretty much the same pace when activity resumed. The exchange said no trading information was lost in the equipment failure.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.46 at 851.30, and advancing issues outpaced declines by about 5-to-3 on the New York Stock Exchange.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .04 at 94.74. The Amex said it had halted trading for the 26-minute period in issues related to Big Board-listed securities, but the smaller exchange appeared otherwise unaffected.

Community Orchestra Plans First Concert

COMMUNITY ORCHESTRA—Some members of the newly organized orchestra are shown as they prepare for Sunday afternoon practice in the Parish House of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Last December a few musicians started practicing together in the Parish House of St. Philip's Episcopal Church on Sunday afternoons. The number has grown and now there are 13 people forming a community orchestra directed by Clara Teegardin.

The orchestra is preparing for a concert with a tentative date of May 22 at 8:30 p.m. They will be playing four centuries of music in a chamber music arrangement.

Any musician is welcome to join the group. The next practice session is 1:30 p.m. April 21 at St. Philip's Church. For further information contact Helen Blum 474-8537, Dwight Weiler 474-4829 or Clara Teegardin 474-7114.

Metzenbaum Urges Economic Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, has proposed an Economic Preparedness Act as a means of taking preventive action before economic crisis hits.

The major provision of his proposal, Metzenbaum said in his first speech in the Senate, is the creation by Congress of a politically independent National Economic Preparedness Council.

The 12-member council appointed by the President and congressional leaders would "re-examine all aspects of American economic life and the role the United States should play in the international economic community," he said.

The council would be empowered to draft legislation and would be responsible for issuing an annual report on national economic goals and the means to achieve them.

Metzenbaum also proposed creation of a National Food Reserve over the next five years to build up a one-year's supply of grains and dry beans through a combination of government purchases at market prices and privately held inventories.

To make sure the country is never caught unprepared again, he said, a National Commodities Survey Office should be established in the General Accounting Office to provide accurate reports on strategic commodities and resources.

"Authoritative supply forecasts do not presently exist, and the lack of information on food and oil was a prime factor in the shortages and inflation that developed in these areas over the past two years," Metzenbaum

Americans Less Mobile Than Before

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Census Bureau population specialist says Americans may be slightly less mobile than they used to be, but still change homes with great frequency.

A new study shows that 31.8 per cent of all Americans changed their residence during the three-year period ending in March of last year.

The study also shows that more Americans moved away from the nation's metropolitan areas, 4,680,000, than moved in, 3,736,000.

In previous years, Census Bureau surveys showed that the percentage of Americans who changed homes every year declined from 19 and 20 per cent in the early 1960s to the recent historical low of 17.9 per cent in 1971.

There were no separate surveys for 1972 and 1973.

The latest three-year survey is not directly comparable to the previous annual surveys, but Larry H. Long of the bureau's population division says there has been a slight decline in mobility in recent years.

But he noted the volume of people who change homes every year still is much greater than in the past two decades, even though the percentage is lower.

The most mobile age group in the population are persons in their 20s, of whom 58 per cent changed homes in the 1970-1973 period.

Both the South and the West experienced a net inflow of 1.2 million migrants, with the Northeast and North Central regions having an off-setting loss.

Big Profit On Wheat Reported

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A firm that has been engaged in grain sales to the Soviet Union and China has reported profits for a recent nine-month period were up 339 per cent.

However, company officials said dealings with the two Communist powers were not the main reason for the record profits reported Tuesday.

Cook Industries Inc. said earnings were $12.90 per share, compared with $3.80 per share for the same period a year ago. After-tax net profits for the nine months ending Feb. 28 were more than $39 million, up from more than $11.5 million.

Bill Barksdale, a Cook spokesman, said the rise in profits was more the result of the Cook Transportation Division cornering the market on shipping than on trading with the Communist nations.

The division controls more than 1,500 rail cars and 200 barges. It is therefore able to move grain to customers while other companies find themselves without a means of delivery.

Since the 1972 Russian sale, Cook Industries has launched a massive expansion campaign — acquiring grain elevators, constructing storage facilities at ports and forming the transportation division.

'Ladies Day' Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Rights Commission says it will investigate a complaint challenging "Ladies' Day" or "Ladies' Night" specials at sports events and businesses.

The commission agreed Tuesday there is cause to examine the complaint, which was filed by Gerald P. Wolfe II, an assistant to the commission's compliance director.

Wolfe said he filed the complaint, which named a Columbus restaurant, as a private citizen.

In the instance in question, he charged, ladies are entitled to buy two drinks for the price of one, while men must pay the full price.

"The practice is an apparent discrimination against men in that it offers different treatment between women and men," he said.

Said Wolfe: "However, the consequences go beyond the apparent discrimination because it perpetuates an attitude toward women that denies the concept of equal treatment."

A Page Of Opinion

A Glance Backward

Few Americans, beset by energy crises and rising cost of gasoline, are aware that in the early days of the automobile Europe was far ahead of the U.S. in numbers of vehicles. In 1903, there were five times as many cars registered in Britain, and nearly 10 times as many cars in France, as were registered in the United States. Thereafter the situation changed swiftly and by 1910 the U.S. was leaving Europe far behind.

European countries, particularly Britain and France, were much farther advanced into the automobile age than the U.S. shortly after the turn of the century. Motoring was regarded from the start as a "sport." And European roads were kinder to early cars than American roads.

Britain's first reported traffic victim, Mrs. Bridget Driscoll, was knocked down and killed by a car traveling at four miles an hour on Aug. 17, 1896. The United States' first traffic fatality occurred on

New Year's Day, 1901, when a young lady crossing Broadway in New York City was knocked down and killed.

These accidents excited public emotion. There were outcries against motor cars. More than 70 years later we might sadly compare the indignation of those days over one death on the road with the utter indifference with which thousands of fatalities a year are now accepted.

Somewhere along the way something was lost.

The Lingerin Dilemma

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — The ominous problem with nuclear power is that, while it is capable of lighting and heating (or cooling) an entire city, it leaves behind radioactive waste which, if not properly disposed of, could kill all the people in the city.

The ashes of the splitting atom cannot be swept under the rug. Radioactive waste must be sealed in leak-proof underground reservoirs and caches or lowered to the bottom of the sea in heavy barrels. There is wide disagreement among physicists and environmentalists as to the best way to get rid of these poisonous remains of chain reaction before they get rid of the people who benefited from their power. If you inhaled one invisible dust particle of used plutonium, you could expect to suffer lung cancer.

Dennis Farney, writing in the current issue of "Smithsonian," which is a fascinating magazine, by the way, puts the problem in terribly clear focus. He writes of it as "almost incomprehensible." And that's an understatement:

"Three radioisotopes within the waste are very long-lived. Strontium 90 and Cesium 137 both have approximately 30-year half-lives. (They decay to half their poisonous potential in 30 years, then to half of the remaining half in another 30 years, and so on down the scale of mathematics.) There is so much of them within the waste that they will have to be isolated from the environment for 600 to 1,000 years.

"A third substance, Plutonium 239, has a fantastically long half-life of 24,000 years. . . . The entire recorded history of mankind is but a fraction of the 250,000-year storage time of plutonium. Neanderthal man appeared only about 75,000 years ago.

"The implications have reminded one thoughtful nuclear scientist of one of man's most gripping legends — Faust, who bargained his soul to the devil in exchange for power. The scientist wondered: are short-lived man and the ephemeral institutions he creates equal to the demands of the fissioned atom?"

So, where to hide it? Where to lose it? Suggestions have been made to bury the exotic junk in abandoned salt mines, or package it in canisters and lower them onto the Greenland icecap. The canisters, very hot, would gradually sink through the 10,000 foot layer of ice, come to rest on the surface of Greenland, and be covered over by the eternal ice. Japan is looking for one of its small unpopulated islands on which, or in which, to sweep her own now relatively small nuclear garbage, but there's always the threat that an earthquake might burst the steel barrels and spread the poison into desperately needed fishing areas. There has also been a recommendation that the ever-increasing mountains of malevolent manure be canned and shot into deep space. But it costs $1,000 a pound to boost a payload into outer space, and there are hundreds of thousands of tons — NOT POUNDS — OF THIS STUFF LYING AROUND. And not enough zillion-dollar rockets. Besides, one might make an erratic U-turn and come thundering down on the U.S.S.R., thus opening World War III.

Chief concern of the handful of physicists who pried the lid off the Atomic Age was the determination of the U.S. to use the historic discovery as a weapons system and employ it against civilian populations as well as military targets.

Sixty of the free world's top scientists who worked on the bomb signed a petition begging President Truman not to use it, after watching the first blinding test at Alamogordo, New Mexico, July 16, 1945. Truman and Gen. George C. Marshall were in

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Caught in a financial crush, universities today are being forced to borrow budget and administrative processes from corporate management, a procedure often thought to be fraught with danger.

The fear, actively expressed by deans and students alike, is that the use of business techniques eventually if not immediately means the ascendancy of money over education.

Inefficiency, it is said, must be tolerated for the sake of truth. Academic standards, the argument continues, must not be infringed upon by financial standards.

But when financial inefficiency constitutes the threat rather than the alleged safeguard, as is the case with scores of universities today, administrations are forced to act. And so, business techniques come to campus.

At the University of Pennsylvania, which handles more than $200 million in funds a year, Martin Meyerson, president, has borrowed a technique from the world of conglomerates and instituted what he calls responsibility centers.

In a business conglomerate these units would be called profit centers, but profit isn't the goal of a university. Neither is loss, however, so the 22 centers are assigned the main responsibility for supporting themselves.

Each school within the university must make its own decisions on how its earned income, mainly tuition, is to be used. Instead of simply applying to the university for financing, it must learn to live within its income.

Decision making is thus diversified in each school. If a school wants to increase the ratio of faculty to students it must justify the move financially. If Potsdam when a committee of the 60 took the declaration to Washington. The committee was brusquely dismissed by one of Marshall's deputies. In a last gasping effort to stay what turned out to be the Hiroshima bomb, one of the more distinguished physicists asked that he be lashed to the bomb and die with it, as penance for his participation in its creation. He was laughed at.

The healing ointment of the science-stricken fathers of the nuclear age was the thought that once the war was ended they could get down to exploiting the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Which they did, with such great success that now we're up to our knees in a waste menace which could make the horrors of Hiroshima and Nagasaki look like nothing.

it wants to offer more student aid it must check its bank account first.

Each center is also assessed for costs of the university as a central enterprise, depending upon the use it makes of libraries and other common facilities. And each school shares in the university's general income.

If a responsibility center wants to embark on a new project that might result in sharp startup costs it can borrow from what is called the inter-center bank at the prime rate. It can save there too.

Prof. John Hobstetter, a metallurgist and chairman of the university budget committee, speaks directly about the consequences of a center not maintaining good financial relations with the bank.

"Accumulating deficits or failure to repay such loans would raise critical questions about a center's viability," he explained to the faculty. "Unless the campus could agree to an increased subvention at the expense of other centers, intervention would be necessary."

Meyerson and Hobstetter seek to avoid that type of confrontation, the purpose of their program being to decentralize decision making while simultaneously encouraging a sense of cohesion with the central university.

Meyerson maintains the system already is producing results, although it is always being re-evaluated. "Deans are concerned about a number of things they never paid attention to. Deans and faculty are asking more about the general problems of the university."

Still, he agrees, "a good deal of resistance" exists. "The deans by and large recognize the importance of it but feel many corrections are needed. To most of the faculty it is puzzling, but budgets always have been."

Hobstetter, a quiet scholar, refers to the "happy old days" when he could spend more time teaching, but he finds his role "fascinating." He finds it "a whole new dimension; it's fun, although there are days I wouldn't admit it."

Meyerson, who must satisfy a disparate constituency that includes the trustees, faculty, city, state and federal governments, as well as students "who are both customers and products," is optimistic.

He feels university budgeting too often has been haphazard, failing to identify the academically desirable with the financially possible. His budget, he claims, is meant to implement planning, not to set priorities.

Inflation Hits Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia's government proposed and the parliament agreed that bank notes of 1,000 dinars (about $66 U.S.) should be issued to facilitate money transaction in this country where check payments are not popular as yet and cash payments are appreciated. The biggest bank note now is of 500 dinars. Raging inflation of about 20 per cent annually in the past few years made it necessary to have bills of higher denomination.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I never heard of "pernio" until my doctor said my son had it.

How do doctors come up with such strange-sounding names?

Mr. T. N., Fla.

Dear Mr. N.:

Medical terminology often sounds strange and confusing. In reality, a complex-sounding name may be shorthand to describe a total medical condition.

For example, a tongue-twister like "subacute bacterial endocarditis" brings to the doctor's mind a portrait of a disease that would take twenty pages of description.

"Subacute" describes a condition somewhere between "acute" and "chronic." "Bacterial" refers to the invading germ. "Endocarditis" is an inflammation and infection of the inner lining of the walls of the heart.

Medical terms are not deliberately meant to confuse the laity, nor to give an air of pomposity. Each scientific discipline has its own technical jargon which is reserved for easy communication between those who work in a specific scientific area.

Now this seems to be a far cry from your original question of "pernio." Actually, I took advantage of your letter to give readers a better insight into the reasons for complex-sounding terminology.

"Pernio" is more commonly known as "chilblain." Severe itching and burning of the skin, followed by tiny blisters, may be caused by water seeping into the shoes over the tops of even waterproof boots.

The apparent protection of waterproof boots is not enough to keep the feet from being drenched after long exposure to rain or snow.

The unpleasant and often painful effects of pernio can be avoided if children and adults are instructed to remove their boots quickly when the feet are saturated.

It is important, too, that the lining be absolutely dry when they are used again.

Is it safe to use hormone cream to remove excess hair on the face?

Miss R. A., Penn.

Dear Miss A.:

The promiscuous use of hormones in creams, lotions and ointments must be avoided.

It is amazing how much of the hormone can be absorbed into the system through the skin.

It is for this reason that hormones must be used only when prescribed by a physician.

The condition "hirsutism" (excess hair) may have a number of different causes, each of which should be investigated and ruled out.

Committee Rejects Oil Profits Drain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has refused to drain an extra $2.1 billion from the petroleum industry's profits for 1974 and 1975.

Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., cast the deciding ballot Monday as the taxwriting panel voted 13-12 against an amendment aimed at boosting the oil industry's taxes.

Oil-state forces on the committee thus scored a significant victory. They have been fighting to allow oil companies to plow back into exploration and development money which the federal government otherwise would be collecting as a proposed new windfall profits tax.

Besides the windfall profits levy, the oil tax reform bill being written by the panel also would eventually phase out the petroleum depletion allowance and would revamp the tax treatment of American oil company income earned abroad. Petroleum firms use the depletion allowance to save some $2 billion to $3 billion a year in federal taxes.

According to new figures from the committee's expert tax staff Monday, the bill would gain $16.8 billion in additional federal revenue from the petroleum industry through 1979. The amendment proposed by Rep. Joseph E. Karth, D-Minn., would have added $2.1 billion to this amount for this year and next year.

The Karth amendment would have let the government collect 100 per cent of the revenue generated through this new windfall profits tax this year. For next year, the government would have collected half the revenue raised by the new tax — with the other half going toward plowback. For the three remaining years that this tax would be on the books, the industry could have 100 per cent plowback.

Prior to the vote, a Treasury official told the panel that total industry profit on domestic production could rise from an estimated $3.7 billion last year to $9.4 billion this year. Furthermore, including the impact of this bill, the official figured the industry would have $30 billion in additional net after-tax profits over six years.

FOP Blasts KSU Findings

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Fraternal Order of Police has criticized indictment of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen in connection with the 1970 Kent State University shootings, an officer said Monday.

FOP President Richard J. Faragher also said the policemen have pledged $100 for the guardsmen's defense and that more money may be promised at a meeting scheduled for May 2.

Cleveland police find "a higher degree of culpability in the system and the state that sent untrained, outnumbered and poorly led young guardsmen into a dangerous situation" than on the part of guardsmen who fired their rifles, Faragher said.

The guardsmen killed four students and wounded nine others during a confrontation with students protesting U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

Plans are being laid in federal court in Cleveland for the guardsmen's trials on charges of assaulting and intimidating the shooting victims.

Oil Probers Eye Monopoly Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has declined on three occasions to interfere with anticompetitive practices of major oil companies, says Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.

He said the department's "continued reluctance to take on major oil companies" will be the subject of four days of hearings to begin today before his subcommittee on regulatory agencies.

Dingell said the panel is chiefly interested in why the department chose not to act in 1970 when its own field office provided evidence that major oil companies violated antitrust laws in joint bidding for offshore oil and gas leases.

Dingell said the department's Los Angeles field office recommended an antitrust suit after a 20-month probe of the Interior Department's 1968 Santa Barbara, Calif., leasing of offshore tracts to oil companies.

Two combines of major oil companies obtained 92.6 per cent of the leases through joint bidding, a practice long accepted by the Interior Department. The department recently announced plans to restrict such bidding in the future.

Dingell said his subcommittee has obtained departmental memoranda covering the Santa Barbara investigation. He said they make a strong case for concluding that joint ventures among competing oil companies are "inherently anticompetitive."

But he said the Justice Department ignored the recommendation and refused to file suit. "We want to know who stopped this investigation and why," said Dingell.

Grandpa Jones Likes 'Old' Music

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A flurry of old songs reborn and a sudden resurgence of youthful respect for the old timers have so far missed one of country music's most authentic performers.

But at least Grandpa Jones believes there's now a market for his brand of music.

"If you want to hear real country music these days, you've got to go to a college or to one of these clubs the kids go to. They want the real old stuff, especially in the colleges. They're tired of this modern country," he declared.

Now 60, he's still doing the same kind of music and telling the same kinds of jokes he started with in 1935. Of course, as he says, "there aren't any new jokes, just variations on old ones."

Well known as a humorist from his weekly appearances on television's syndicated "Hee Haw," Grandpa still loves his music best.

"I'm not doing what's popular — or at least, what has been popular. You know, that modern country and the bluegrass. I don't pick like Earl Scruggs does. That's bluegrass."

His picking style is often called "claw-hammer" or "frailing."

"And I don't do any of this modern country ... about men running around on their wives and all. I like songs about the country or mother or train wrecks or something. Us oldtimers call that other stuff 'skin songs'."

He records but, evidently, has had less success than he would have hoped. "Oh, I do lots of records, but you'd never know it. The disc jockeys know I don't do modern country or bluegrass so they just pitch it out. 'That's why I want to do some of these college shows. I believe there's a lot of young people who would like what I do,'" he said.

He's starting the college circuit soon, with a first appearance scheduled at Western Kentucky University.

The problem, Grandpa feels, is that too many writers are turning out "skin songs" and not the gentle, down-to-earth music he thinks is beginning to see a revival.

"One of the prettiest songs to come out in a long, long time is 'The Green, Green Grass of Home,'" he said. "And that's about home and just plain people. I'd like to see a lot more songs like that."

Grandpa has another album coming out in the near future, "Heading South with Nashville on my Mind."

Then, he's going to another record label.

"They're already looking for some material. Maybe it'll turn out and maybe it won't. We'll just have to see," he said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Take A Second Look

DEAR ABBY: As my husband and I were preparing to make a trip to Europe by air, one of my so-called dearest friends came to me and asked me if I would please get a $50,000 airplane insurance policy naming her as beneficiary. She said she would gladly pay for the insurance.

I was shocked to say the least. What do you think of such a suggestion from a supposedly loving friend? I'd really like your opinion.

PEACHES
DEAR PEACHES: Let me put it this way: If this loving friend invited me to her home for dinner, I'd wonder who she was loving, and I'd also take a food-taster along.

DEAR ABBY: It's a cinch you've never been to Alaska, otherwise you never would have told that 45-year-old woman who was looking for a husband to go hunting there.

There are no extra marriageable men here, plus jobs are scarce and prices are double. You should have told her not to go to Alaska unless she had a round-trip ticket and plenty of money. She's too old to be a go-go dancer.

ERMA IN ANCHORAGE
DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I was hospitalized for a heart condition, and upon release, my doctor told me I had to take it easy.

My son, his wife and their three very active young children are neighbors to us, and the children are here more than they are at home. They wear me out but I can't bring myself to send them home.

Pollution Permit Case Hits Courts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Kentucky has asked a federal appeals court here to require federally-owned facilities to obtain air pollution permits from the states in which they are located.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals heard arguments Monday as Kentucky sought to overturn a district court ruling that it did not have the power to require federal facilities to take out state permits.

Kentucky was opposed by attorneys for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and the Army.

Texas, California and Virginia filed briefs supporting Kentucky's position.

Kentucky's attorney, David Beals, said amendments to the Federal Clean Air Act made federal facilities subject to the same air pollution control and abatement rules as everyone else in the state.

Beals said a permit is issued only after a facility provides a schedule for meeting national clean air standards. He said a permit system is the only way a state can guarantee a facility is taking steps to curb pollution.

He noted that while the Federal Clean Air Act allows a state to sue federal facilities that do not meet air pollution control schedules, that kind of relief is too late.

Attorney Robert Klarquist, representing the AEC, EPA and Army, said states with complaints about pollution from a federal facility could file suit if the facility did not meet a deadline for compliance with air quality standards.

Beauchamp Brogan, representing the TVA, noted that "TVA drivers don't need to get state drivers' licenses."

He said the same logic should hold true for TVA facilities and state air pollution permits.

Among the federal facilities named in Kentucky's suit are TVA's Shawnee Steam Plant in Paducah and its Paradise Steam Plant at Paradise, plus various steam and heating facilities at Fort Knox and Fort Campbell in Kentucky.

Tophat Muffins

They're sweet and pretty!
13 3/4-ounce package hot roll mix
3 eggs
5 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 egg yolk

In medium bowl of electric mixer sprinkle yeast from mix over 1/2 cup warm (not hot) water; stir to dissolve. Gently beat in eggs one at a time, then 4 tablespoons of the sugar; add half (2 cups) of the flour mixture from mix; beat at low speed for 1/2 minute; beat on high speed for 2 minutes. Add remaining flour mixture; beat on low speed for 2 more minutes. Cover and let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled — 30 minutes. Stir down by beating with a wooden spoon for 20 strokes. Sprinkle a floured pastry cloth with the 3 tablespoons flour; pour batter onto it and toss lightly until it loses its stickiness. Shape into a 9-inch long roll; cut into 15 slices. With well-floured hands shape 12 of the slices into balls and place in 2 3/4-inch diameter muffin-pan cups. With a kitchen scissors cut an x in the center of each ball. Cut each of the 3 remaining slices into 4 equal parts; shape each into a ball and place in the center of an x. Let rise as previously until nearly doubled — 30 to 45 minutes. Beat remaining 1 tablespoon sugar with the egg yolk and 1 teaspoon water; brush over muffins. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until golden-brown — 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12.

Candidates Show Poor Vote Record

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—State Rep. Charles E. Fry, R-75 Springfield, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, voted on only 28 per cent of Ohio House roll calls during March, the Dayton Daily News reported.

He was one of eight legislators seeking higher office who were included in a survey by the newspaper. It said Fry was absent on eight of the thirteen days the legislature was in session during March.

The others included Sen. Tony P.

Hall, D-6 Dayton, a candidate for the Democratic governor for secretary of state. Hall voted in 90 per cent of the Senate's roll calls during February but dropped to 48 per cent in March.

Besides Fry and Hall, others surveyed by the Daily News were Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, seeking the GOP nomination for attorney general; Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, running for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 34th District; Rep. James P. Celebrezze, D-4 Cleveland, running for the Democratic 23rd District congressional nomination, Rep. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, running for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor; Rep. Thomas N. Kindness, R-58 Hamilton, seeking the GOP nomination for Congress in the 8th District, and Rep. George E. Mastics, R-3 Cleveland, running for his party's congressional nomination in the 23rd District.

All five House members are giving up their House seats, but none of the four-year senators stand to lose his present office if he is defeated.

Kindness, Mastics, and Mottl had the best attendance records, averaging 98, 92, and 86 per cent, respectively, over the last 26 legislative days. Celebrezze missed nine days and had 67 per cent, along with Celeste.

Aronoff missed four days and voted on 81 per cent of the roll calls. Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, underwent major surgery in Cleveland Feb. 25 and was not included in the survey.

Some of the absences may not have been a result of campaigning activities since lawmakers at times miss roll calls while involved in other legislative business. Fry admitted that his were attributed to campaigning, however.

"I just had to make a decision as to whether to keep my attendance up or get out and campaign. I thought the best needs of the state were met by campaigning," said Fry, who faces an uphill fight against former Gov. James A. Rhodes in the May 7 primary.

Cost Of Living Council Aides Must Find New Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first 250 employees at the Cost of Living Council have been notified to start looking for new jobs, as the administration's wage and price control agency begins the process of going out of business.

It is unusual for any federal agency to be disbanded after once being established.

But efforts by council director John T. Dunlop to continue the council as a special anti-inflation agency after April 30 have met with rejection in Congress, which has made clear it feels the 2½-year-old controls program should come to a complete halt.

A small nucleus of the council's total personnel of 1,000 may be retained, but most of its staff will be seeking other jobs. They include attorneys, economists, administrators and clerical workers.

Dunlop and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz told an assembly of council personnel Monday that every effort will be made to find comparable jobs for them in other federal agencies.

About 60 per cent of the council personnel have worked with emergency-indefinite status, meaning they were hired for a specific job and without guarantee of future jobs. They have not had civil service status.

However, council members have been told that President Nixon may soon issue an order giving them civil service status to make them eligible for permanent federal employment.

The notices to council employees that they must start finding new work gives them two months in which to find jobs. The first 250 already have received notices.

Although the council's authority expires April 30, it has funds to meet its payroll through June 30.

One high-ranking staff member noted that he paid his own way for his family to move to Washington from Chicago two years ago, and said his experience was not uncommon.

"There really are a lot of very talented people here; most have come in with a selfless attitude. Many have come into government from business, working 7:30-to-9:30 days for two years. People in business don't work like that," he said.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I've sold my house at a profit and am buying a mobile home. Can I postpone the tax on the gain from the sale of my house?

(A.) In general, you can defer the tax on all of the profit if within one year before or one year after the sale you buy and occupy another residence (in your case a mobile home), whose cost equals or exceeds the "adjusted sales price" of the old residence.

If the purchase price of the mobile home is less than the adjusted sales price of your house (basically, this is the amount you realize on the sale less fixing-up expenses), all or part of the gain may be taxed. The gain taxed in the year of sale is the gain realized on the sale of your old home or the excess of the adjusted sales price of the old residence over the purchase price of the new residence — whichever is less. For example, if your basis in the house is $15,000, you sell it for $20,000 and buy a mobile home for $10,000, you are taxed on a gain of $5,000. This is so because the entire gain on the sale ($5,000) is less than the difference between the adjusted sales price ($20,000) of the old residence and purchase price of the new one ($10,000). If you purchase a mobile home for $16,000, you would be taxed on $4,000, because this difference between the adjusted sales price ($20,000) of the house and purchase price of the mobile home ($16,000) is less than the total gain ($5,000).

(Q.) I filed my return in February, but now I've found out that I overlooked a deduction. What should I do?

(A.) You can file Form 1040X to amend your previously filed return. On this form, you recompute the portion that has changed from your original return and send it, along with any necessary related information to the address shown in the 1040X instructions. Form 1040X is available at any IRS office.

(Q.) I should receive a refund when I file my return for 1973. Can I still check off a dollar of my tax to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

(A.) Yes. Without increasing your tax liability or decreasing your refund, you may earmark $1 ($2 on a joint return). If you neglected to "check off" on your 1972 return, you can still do so on your 1973 return.

(Q.) Aren't there some deductions that can be claimed even though the taxpayer chooses the standard deduction and doesn't itemize?

(A.) Yes. On your tax form these deductions are called "adjustments to income." They include employee business expenses, such as business travel expenses, payments by self-employed individuals to a retirement plan and the sick pay exclusion.

Credits against your income tax may also be claimed without itemizing your deductions. For example, many taxpayers are eligible to claim the retirement income credit or the credit for contributions to political candidates.

Power Company Cost Pass-On Under Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission is investigating whether the American Electric Power Co. may routinely pass on to consumers the costs of shipping more than 600 million tons of low-sulfur Western coal to Ohio power plants.

"Our fuel adjustment clause is designed to handle routine changes in fuel costs, but I would view this as a significantly different situation," said John Borrows, PUCO utilities chief.

AEP, parent company of the Ohio Power Co., announced the plan to obtain massive new supplies of low-sulfur coal in Montana, Wyoming, Utah and Colorado for use primarily in Ohio and Indiana, starting in late 1975 or 1976.

Borrows said he was satisfied that the company was planning the imports to meet state air pollution standards. Less than 2 per cent of Ohio's coal reserve consists of low sulfur coal which can be burned without violating pollution standards.

Candidates Show Poor Vote Record

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—State Rep. Charles E. Fry, R-75 Springfield, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, voted on only 28 per cent of Ohio House roll calls during March, the Dayton Daily News reported.

He was one of eight legislators seeking higher office who were included in a survey by the newspaper. It said Fry was absent on eight of the thirteen days the legislature was in session during March.

The others included Sen. Tony P.

Hall, D-6 Dayton, a candidate for the Democratic governor for secretary of state. Hall voted in 90 per cent of the Senate's roll calls during February but dropped to 48 per cent in March.

Besides Fry and Hall, others surveyed by the Daily News were Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, seeking the GOP nomination for attorney general; Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, running for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 34th District; Rep. James P. Celebrezze, D-4 Cleveland, running for the Democratic 23rd District congressional nomination, Rep. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, running for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor; Rep. Thomas N. Kindness, R-58 Hamilton, seeking the GOP nomination for Congress in the 8th District, and Rep. George E. Mastics, R-3 Cleveland, running for his party's congressional nomination in the 23rd District.

All five House members are giving up their House seats, but none of the four-year senators stand to lose his present office if he is defeated.

Kindness, Mastics, and Mottl had the best attendance records, averaging 98, 92, and 86 per cent, respectively, over the last 26 legislative days. Celebrezze missed nine days and had 67 per cent, along with Celeste.

Aronoff missed four days and voted on 81 per cent of the roll calls. Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, underwent major surgery in Cleveland Feb. 25 and was not included in the survey.

Some of the absences may not have been a result of campaigning activities since lawmakers at times miss roll calls while involved in other legislative business. Fry admitted that his were attributed to campaigning, however.

"I just had to make a decision as to whether to keep my attendance up or get out and campaign. I thought the best needs of the state were met by campaigning," said Fry, who faces an uphill fight against former Gov. James A. Rhodes in the May 7 primary.

Cost Of Living Council Aides Must Find New Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first 250 employees at the Cost of Living Council have been notified to start looking for new jobs, as the administration's wage and price control agency begins the process of going out of business.

It is unusual for any federal agency to be disbanded after once being established.

But efforts by council director John T. Dunlop to continue the council as a special anti-inflation agency after April 30 have met with rejection in Congress, which has made clear it feels the 2½-year-old controls program should come to a complete halt.

A small nucleus of the council's total personnel of 1,000 may be retained, but most of its staff will be seeking other jobs. They include attorneys, economists, administrators and clerical workers.

Dunlop and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz told an assembly of council personnel Monday that every effort will be made to find comparable jobs for them in other federal agencies.

About 60 per cent of the council personnel have worked with emergency-indefinite status, meaning they were hired for a specific job and without guarantee of future jobs. They have not had civil service status.

However, council members have been told that President Nixon may soon issue an order giving them civil service status to make them eligible for permanent federal employment.

The notices to council employees that they must start finding new work gives them two months in which to find jobs. The first 250 already have received notices.

Although the council's authority expires April 30, it has funds to meet its payroll through June 30.

One high-ranking staff member noted that he paid his own way for his family to move to Washington from Chicago two years ago, and said his experience was not uncommon.

"There really are a lot of very talented people here; most have come in with a selfless attitude. Many have come into government from business, working 7:30-to-9:30 days for two years. People in business don't work like that," he said.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I've sold my house at a profit and am buying a mobile home. Can I postpone the tax on the gain from the sale of my house?

(A.) In general, you can defer the tax on all of the profit if within one year before or one year after the sale you buy and occupy another residence (in your case a mobile home), whose cost equals or exceeds the "adjusted sales price" of the old residence.

If the purchase price of the mobile home is less than the adjusted sales price of your house (basically, this is the amount you realize on the sale less fixing-up expenses), all or part of the gain may be taxed. The gain taxed in the year of sale is the gain realized on the sale of your old home or the excess of the adjusted sales price of the old residence over the purchase price of the new residence — whichever is less. For example, if your basis in the house is $15,000, you sell it for $20,000 and buy a mobile home for $10,000, you are taxed on a gain of $5,000. This is so because the entire gain on the sale ($5,000) is less than the difference between the adjusted sales price ($20,000) of the old residence and purchase price of the new one ($10,000). If you purchase a mobile home for $16,000, you would be taxed on $4,000, because this difference between the adjusted sales price ($20,000) of the house and purchase price of the mobile home ($16,000) is less than the total gain ($5,000).

(Q.) I filed my return in February, but now I've found out that I overlooked a deduction. What should I do?

(A.) You can file Form 1040X to amend your previously filed return. On this form, you recompute the portion that has changed from your original return and send it, along with any necessary related information to the address shown in the 1040X instructions. Form 1040X is available at any IRS office.

(Q.) I should receive a refund when I file my return for 1973. Can I still check off a dollar of my tax to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

(A.) Yes. Without increasing your tax liability or decreasing your refund, you may earmark $1 ($2 on a joint return). If you neglected to "check off" on your 1972 return, you can still do so on your 1973 return.

(Q.) Aren't there some deductions that can be claimed even though the taxpayer chooses the standard deduction and doesn't itemize?

(A.) Yes. On your tax form these deductions are called "adjustments to income." They include employee business expenses, such as business travel expenses, payments by self-employed individuals to a retirement plan and the sick pay exclusion.

Credits against your income tax may also be claimed without itemizing your deductions. For example, many taxpayers are eligible to claim the retirement income credit or the credit for contributions to political candidates.

Power Company Cost Pass-On Under Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission is investigating whether the American Electric Power Co. may routinely pass on to consumers the costs of shipping more than 600 million tons of low-sulfur Western coal to Ohio power plants.

"Our fuel adjustment clause is designed to handle routine changes in fuel costs, but I would view this as a significantly different situation," said John Borrows, PUCO utilities chief.

AEP, parent company of the Ohio Power Co., announced the plan to obtain massive new supplies of low-sulfur coal in Montana, Wyoming, Utah and Colorado for use primarily in Ohio and Indiana, starting in late 1975 or 1976.

Borrows said he was satisfied that the company was planning the imports to meet state air pollution standards. Less than 2 per cent of Ohio's coal reserve consists of low sulfur coal which can be burned without violating pollution standards.

Villagers On Golan Heights See Death, Barren Spring

HARFA, Occupied Syria (AP) — Caught in the blazing artillery duel between Syrian and Israeli gunners on the Golan Heights, the villagers of Harfa are resigned to more death and a barren spring.

"This is the village of our fathers," said their chieftain, or mukhtar, Salman Yusef Atmat. "The October War has driven many other people away, but we were born here and we will die here."

Israeli forces captured the hilltop village of 1,000 during their advance toward Damascus 30 miles away. The front now runs about seven miles to the northeast.

"I think the Syrians are shelling us in vengeance for not evacuating the town during the Israeli advance," Atmat said.

As Atmat spoke, several shells shrieked over the town, sounding like the slow tearing of cloth. They blasted a nearby pasture, sending up a fountain of black smoke and rock. The acrid smell of cordite wafted into the mukhtar's stone house.

London Blood Collection Chief Restricts Nonwhites

LONDON (AP) — A row has broken out over the refusal of the director of one of Britain's biggest blood collection centers to supply the blood of nonwhite donors for transfusions.

Dr. Dhani Prem, president of the Standing Committee of Asian Organizations in the United Kingdom, called for a government inquiry into the ban, imposed by Dr. Thomas Cleghorn, medical director of the center in north London.

Cleghorn, whose center is the only one of 14 in the country with the ban, denied that it was racist. He said his tests have shown that nonwhite donors are more likely to be carriers of hepatitis, a disease with a high mortality rate if transmitted through blood transfusion.

"I have figures on which it would be medically improper not to act," he said.

Cleghorn said his center had about 30 nonwhite donors a week, and their blood is used for nontherapeutic purposes.

See Easing Of Libyan Relations

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Premier Abdel Salam Jalloud is taking over the management of Libya's foreign relations in an effort to undo the damage done by President Moammar Khadafy, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources emphasized that Col. Khadafy is still the country's strongman and that Jalloud remains his right-hand man. They added they expected no radical changes as a consequence of the shift.

"Jalloud is more flexible," said one Western diplomat, and several others agreed. "He is a patient and tactful negotiator full of understanding, whereas Khadafy is easily frustrated."

Arab diplomats expressed a feeling that the shift in duties, announced Saturday, was aimed at promoting Libya's relations with its Arab neighbors.

Jalloud, the announcement said, will handle "political, executive and traditional affairs" as well as meet with heads of states and ambassadors and act as foreign minister in the country.

Khadafy "wants to devote all his time to ideological matters and to explain to the Libyan people the principle of his revolution, mainly the establishment of an Islamic state," said Sikip Shalak, deputy director of the Information Ministry.

"Jalloud can better handle Libyan contacts with the sister Arab countries," one Arab diplomat said. "He has a talent of persuasion in his talks, unlike Khadafy's offensive approach."

Cincy Damage From Twister $50 Million

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — J. Lawrence Jones, president of the American Insurance Association, Monday estimated tornado damage in the Cincinnati area at $50 million, up from the $30 million estimate of city officials.

Jones and other insurance industry officials met Monday with Cincinnati Mayor Theodore M. Berry and announced that hundreds of insurance adjusters were arriving in Ohio to make on-site claim settlements.

Temporary offices were set up in Cincinnati at four tornado damage locations by the General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., of New York, which has been contracted by many insurance firms to handle claims.

"We have some hail and automobile damage that are not included in the figures provided" by local officials, Jones said.

John Holloway Jr., GAB vice president, said, "Our people can make their own estimates of replacement costs. They should wrap it up on the first visit. They don't need contractors' estimates. They should also be able to include the costs of replacing household goods."

Individual insurance firms were also beefing up their adjuster staffs, Berry was told.

"This is the most devastating tornado in our record books," Jones said. "There have been worse in terms of loss of life, but none worse in terms of property damage."

The insurance men said that the worst damage claims would be settled first. Others will be made later.

The city of Cincinnati, meanwhile, is furnishing every property owner with a free picture of his damaged home to present to insurance adjusters.

Crime Grows In Paradise

By JIM BISHOP

He is a big, slow man with broad nostrils and varnished skin. In the manner of all Hawaiians, Chief of Police Abraham Aiona smiles before he says hello, during and after. Headquarters is inland from the beaches of Maui. It is an old stone building with no authority except for the flag on the lawn.

It has an odor of old incense, a private office with a rolltop desk, fading wall photos of dead police chiefs and, in the back where the poinsettias echo the flame of the sun, a few iron cells. No one is in them.

The squad car is out front. It has a dome light. He can race over the brown-sugared roads, in and out of bamboo jungles and up the slopes of the largest extinct volcano, and see no one except a few ribbed dogs panting under a porch, or chickens who peck nervously for small bugs.

Chief Aiona does not see the sheer back cliffs with the champagne sea bubbling at the bottom. Nor does he notice the wild lavender orchids clothing the bare banyans and mahogany trees. Nor does he study the long, curving beaches where the sea scratches its back on the sand.

He is troubled about crime. His police domain covers three islands — Maui, Molokai and Lanai. Subordinates patrol them and, if Chief Aiona waited a day or two, the radio set would excuse itself with an electric cough and a voice would say, "Lanai, stolen four-door hardtop running east of the pineapple plantation . . ."

Each island is a separate paradise. Each, like heaven itself, is an ecstatic prison. Where would a thief take a car? How could he hide it, disguise it, when everybody knows everybody else's automobile?

Not long ago, crime on the chief's three islands consisted of a street fight, a burglary, public intoxication, a gambling raid. In those days, maietactors sometimes fled at the approach of the chief's men. No one fired a shot at them because, even if they hid under their beds, the police were patient. They would wait until the sinners emerged into sunlight. The chief would pick one from a group and lapse into Pidgin English, "You bad boy. Look for you. Come." He tries to remember a prisoner who resisted. He can't.

Hawaii is a polyglot of Caucasians, Japanese, Chinese, Portuguese and Hawaiians. The few pure Hawaiians say, "The Chinese run the economy, the Japanese run the politics, the Caucasians run the plantations and the Hawaiians run for the hills."

Prejudice is low-key in Hawaii. Some Japanese will not sell a house to a white for fear he will run the neighborhood down. Corporate white look down upon pure Hawaiians as a romantic, indolent people. The sun touches all skins with equal nourishment.

Chief Aiona knows that the rise in crime is minuscule compared to the mainland. And yet, like most policemen, he sees any rise in lawlessness as a personal affront. In 10 years, murder jumped 28 per cent; forcible rape climbed 75 per cent. Robberies, which turn the chief's smile to stone and flare his nostrils, are up 175 per cent.

It would be pleasant to blame it on the tourists, but the record books show that visitors are responsible for only 15 per cent of all crime. Low-grade heroin flies in from California, sometimes concealed vaginally by plane stewards. High-grade horse comes to Hawaii from soldiers returning from duty in the Far East.

Boys and girls accustomed to 3 per cent heroin have been found dead on bathroom floors after buying good stuff — 97 per cent heroin, or 3,200-times stronger. The hooked become hookers and thieves.

A girl needs six men a day to support a six-shot habit. A boy must steal $100 in marketable merchandise every day to get $60 for heroin. Like Mauna Loa, the lava boils red to the top of the crater, except that this time it runs in rivers of blood.

The chief sits in his office in Wailuku, and he thinks and worries about the paradise his forefathers knew. The chair squeaks like a cage of hungry mice. Aiona doesn't feel better when the Honolulu P.D. tells him that crime is far worse on Oahu. He longs for the old days when a drunk stole a pig and staged his own luau.

That was a good collar. It made the newspapers. In frustration, he lifts two hands and slams them on the desk. "Now," he says, "we are left with only one place where there is no crime."

"Indeed," I said, "where is that?" He shakes his head. "A place on Molokai called Kalaupapa. It's a leper colony . . ."

Health Curbs On Chemical Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Rubber Workers President Peter Bommarito said Tuesday emergency temporary health standards placed on vinyl chloride are inadequate to guarantee workers safety.

He called on tighter government restrictions on worker exposure to the chemical, believed responsible for a rare form of liver cancer.

The Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration this week ordered that the maximum allowable concentration of vinyl chloride be reduced from 500 parts per million in the atmosphere to 50 parts per million until a permanent standard is formulated.

The action came after it was disclosed that four workers at a B.F. Goodrich Co. vinyl chloride conversion plant in Louisville, Ky., had died.

Bommarito said the deaths "served the brutal purpose" of showing how little is known about how dangerous chemical substances are in the work place.

Speaking at a one-day health and safety meeting sponsored by the union, he said "it has uncovered what industry, government and labor do not know — the toxicological and cancer potential of thousands of chemicals used in industry."

2 Escape Injury In Plane Crash

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Two Ohio men escaped injury when their twin engine Cessna 310 crashed on takeoff from Worcester Airport early today in a snowstorm.

Police said the plane apparently stalled out and crashed into woods about 100 yards from the end of the runway.

Officials identified the pilot as Joseph A. Jansen of Bluffton, Ohio, and his passenger as Scott R. Bushong of Elida, Ohio.

Owens-Corning Dividend Down

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. stockholders will pocket 66 cents a share of $9.8 million first-quarter earnings, a drop from 78 cents for the same period in 1973.

Officials said consolidated net sales for the quarter closing March 31 were $194.9 million, compared with $167.6 million in 1973.

The growing demand for products did not pay increased dividends due to rapidly rising costs and Phase IV rules which prohibited passing those costs on in the form of prices, said William W. Boeschstein, president.

State Has Little Damage Insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state of Ohio has more property and less insurance than any other real estate owner in the state.

In fact, the state has no property damage insurance at all except on university dormitories—mandatory coverage because the dormitories are built with the proceeds of bonds.

Ironically, dormitories at Central State University, latest property disaster for state government, suffered least from the tornado that decimated Xenia last week.

Detente Unreal, Soviet Dissident Tells Newsman

NEW YORK (AP) — Exiled Soviet dissident Pavel M. Litvinov says detente between Russia and the United States can't be real if only the top leaders "meet and smile and talk to each other."

Litvinov, the 34-year-old grandson of Stalin's late foreign minister, arrived here with his family earlier this week. The chemical engineer says he hopes to stay and teach college physics in the United States.

"I can't consider detente real if only at the very top the leaders meet and smile and talk to each other, but the Soviet working man is told to look on every foreigner as a spy," he said in an interview Tuesday.

He said there "can't be such a thing as a cold peace. Real peace must be warm and friendly."

The rebuilding bill at Central State, where practically every building except some dormitories was either demolished or heavily damaged, has been estimated at $50 million to $75 million.

The state does carry loss of business policies on state buildings, so that it would be reimbursed for emergency space rentals.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, said he didn't really know why the state carries no property damage insurance, but said he expected that premiums on state property would be too high.

Howard Collier, former Ohio finance director now a vice president of the Medical College of Ohio, verified Olsen's theory. "In the past 10 or 15 years I know about we haven't suffered more than a $10 million loss because of disasters," Collier said.

"Insurance premiums on everything the state owns would have been more costly."

Insurance is required on university dormitories built through bond issues, Olsen said. "The bonding firms insist upon it," he said.

Otherwise, the state is a selfinsurer. It sets aside money in an emergency fund.

"That fund is pretty lean right now," Olsen said. It does not contain enough to pay Central State damages, he said.

There are two other approaches to finance reconstruction: A bond issue or an outright appropriation by the legislature, probably in the capital improvements bill.

"Right now," said Olsen, "our first task is to get an assessment of damages down there, determine costs and see if we can get it in the next capital improvement bill."

Olsen doesn't like the bond issue approach. There are complicating factors, he said.

"But a bonded debt is always possible," he said.

Boyle Vigorously Denies Plotting To Kill Yablonski

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—W. A. "Tony" Boyle, the former United Mine Workers president, vigorously denies he had anything to do with the 1969 assassination of his union rival Joseph "Jack" Yablonski.

"Absolutely not," the 72-year-old defendant said loud and clear Tuesday afternoon, staring hard at the jury of nine men and three women while answering his lawyer's questions on whether he had helped arrange the murders of Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Later, under sharp cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague, Boyle insisted he always tells the truth.

"I have told the truth under oath all my life," Boyle said. "I have never lied under oath."

Sprague, sarcastically, responded: "The jury will decide that Mr. Boyle."

Boyle was the fourth defense witness. Three others may testify today before the defense rests.

Then the prosecution, which already has had 56 witnesses, is expected to offer a brief rebuttal before the case reaches the jury, probably by Friday.

The Yablonskis were slain Dec. 31, 1969, as they slept in their rural Clarksville home in southwestern Pennsylvania. The killings occurred three weeks after Yablonski lost a bitter battle to unseat Boyle for the presidency of the 200,000-member union.

Testifying in his own defense, the ailing Boyle—he failed in a sleeping pill suicide attempt last September and has a bad heart—also said he was positive he had never suggested to anyone at any time that Yablonski must be killed.

"I certainly did not," Boyle said, flatly refuting the prosecution's star witness Monday that the "kill Yablonski" order originated with Boyle on June 23, 1969.

William J. Turnblazer, 52, former president of UMW District 19 embracing Kentucky and Tennessee, had testified Boyle suggested the assassination during a brief afternoon meeting in the hallway of the union's national headquarters building in Washington, D.C.

Turnblazer, who has pleaded guilty to participating in the murder plot, said Albert Pass, 52, former secretary-treasurer of District 19, also was present at the time.

Pass was convicted of murder last June.

"Did you have any such conversation with Albert Pass (on June 23, 1969)?" asked Boyle's lawyer, Charles F. Moses.

"I did not," Boyle said.

"Did you have any meeting with William Turnblazer?" Moses continued.

"I did not," Boyle replied again.

Japanese Commuters Stranded

TOKYO (AP) — Workers on the Japan National Railway began a four-day strike today, forcing 8 million commuters to find other transport or stay home.

Another 5 million commuters were delayed by a slowdown of transport workers who had not yet struck.

Some 6½ million government and private employees were scheduled to strike Thursday for 24 to 72 hours, stopping almost all rail, bus and taxi services.

Japan's 260,000 telephone and telegraph workers and 200,000 postal employees struck Tuesday. The dock workers were holding meetings to decide whether to join the walkout Thursday.

The government lined up convoys of trucks to haul foodstuffs to major population centers, and the National Police Agency said it mobilized 340,000 men to maintain order and direct the increased automobile traffic expected.

The strikes are part of Japanese labor's annual spring offensive for higher pay. With the cost of living up 24 per cent in the past year, the unions are demanding wage boosts ranging from 20 to 30 per cent, inflation allowances, increased welfare payments for the poor and the right to strike for government employees, who can now be fired if they strike.

Management contends that it cannot meet the demands because of the uncertain economic outlook due to greatly increased oil prices.

Court Rejects Rhodes Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court refused today to block a hearing by the state Real Estate Commission on the validity of a broker's license issued to former Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes complained in his petition to the high court the hearing before state panel is improper and in violation of his legal rights.

The commission notified Rhodes in a letter dated Mar. 12 that he should surrender the license within 30 days or face a hearing to determine whether it should be reversed, vacated or altered.

Rhodes obtained the license by taking an oral examination in the governor's office four days before his term expired in January of 1970. His license is one of several the commission claims were obtained improperly.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — "I am helping the United States to conserve energy," said Ambassador Radha Krishna Ramphal of Mauritius as he arrived Tuesday for the special General Assembly on raw materials in a horse carriage rented from the Central Park fleet. A sign on the coach said "Sugar Power" and Ramphal explained: "Here you find nuclear powers, superpowers, oil powers, major powers and minor powers. We are a sugar power — 93 per cent of our exports are sugar."

TESTIFIES—William Turnblazer, above, one-time United Mine Workers union official, testified that he was present when former UMW president W. A. "Tony" Boyle ordered the assassination of Joseph A. Yablonski.

Mitchell-Stans Speedup Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi is seeking to step up the pace at the criminal conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

With Good Friday an off-day for the trial, Gagliardi said Tuesday he is "giving some thought to a Saturday session."

But he appeared willing to go along with a defense suggestion that to compensate for the long weekend, court sessions be extended daily by an hour or so.

The government objected to this. It said it needs all the time it can get to prepare for each day of defense testimony.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of obstructing a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation into the operations of financier Robert L. Vesco in return for his secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The Vesco donation was the largest cash contribution received by the Committee to Re-elect the President, which Mitchell and Stans took over after leaving the cabinet.

The defense presentation was enlivened Tuesday by the appearance as a witness of an ebullient multimillionaire insurance tycoon from Winnetka, Ill. — W. Clement Stone. His more-than-$2-million, non-cash donation was the largest single contribution of the 1972 campaign.

Gagliardi refused to let Stone say how much he gave Nixon and why, and the judge said he would not permit the defense to call as witnesses other large Nixon contributors.

The defense wanted to call other heavy contributors in an effort to show that many of them had insisted on anonymity and were seeking no favors.

But Gagliardi said, "What went through their minds is not relevant as to what went through Mr. Stans' mind as to criminal intent."

Stone testified he hosted a table of 10 at a $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Senate and House candidates in the Washington Hilton Hotel March 8, 1972. Among his guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

A government witness, Daniel Hofgren, a volunteer GOP campaign aide, had testified that he talked to Mitchell at a reception preceding the dinner and was warned by Mitchell to "stay away" from Vesco, and the subject of his planned $200,000 contribution.

One count in the indictment charges Mitchell with perjury, because of his testimony that he never talked with Hofgren about Vesco at the party, or told him to "stay away" from the financier.

Stone testified that Mitchell never made it to the reception, and arrived late for the dinner itself.

In another ruling Tuesday, Gagliardi refused to let the defense call as witness Berl Bernhardt, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's campaign manager during the Maine senator's attempt to win the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Stans' attorneys had said that Bernhardt's testimony would show that it was the "custom and practice" of all candidates to take anonymous contributions.

LE Seniors Present 'If The Shoe Fits'

AND-DROOL SISTERS—Playing the And-Drool Sisters in the Logan Elm senior class production of "If the Shoe Fits" are left to right, Bonnie Bolender, Jackie Jones and Leticia Brasileiro.

"If the Shoe Fits", an original rock musical, is to be presented by the senior class of Logan Elm High School. The play is adapted from the classical fairy tale "Cinderella" and is done in a nostalgic manner pulling bits and pieces from the '30's, '40's and '50's. Featured are such characters as May West (Fairy Godmother) or if you wish, the Welcome Wagon Hostess; the And-Drool Sisters, Patty, Laverne and Maxene; Johnny Angel (Prince); Diana (Cinderella) and a cast of bobby socked be-boppers and chain slinging greasers. Written and directed by Bill Chandler and choreographed by Debbie Chandler, "If the Shoe Fits" will be presented 8:30 p.m. April 26 and 27. Both performances will be in the McDowell Exchange School auditorium. Original recordings from the '50's will be pantomimed. Among those heard will be "Johnny Angel", "Diana", "Jukebox Rock", and "Rock Around The Clock".

State Won't Aid Indicted Guardsmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state attorney general's office reaffirmed Tuesday its decision not to provide legal counsel for Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings. James Gravelle, press aide to Atty. Gen. William Brown, was responding to a statement by a guard spokesman that it was the guard's understanding the state would defend soldiers in suits resulting from actions they took while on state active duty. "There is a big difference between a civil suit and a criminal indictment from a federal grand jury," Gravelle said. He said it is not the policy of the state to defend employees indicted on criminal offenses. Gravelle said the guardsmen were offered legal advice when first subpoenaed, but were told they could not be defended if indicted. He said they also were told they could make a claim with the Sundry Claims Board for reimbursement of legal expenses, which would "probably be reimbursed if they were acquitted." The attorney general's policy concerning defense of state employees on criminal charges was outlined in a letter from Brown to Adj. Gen. Dana L. Stewart in December 1973, Gravelle said. The guard official, Col Joseph McCann, public affairs officer, referred to a memorandum dated April 23, 1971, from Stewart to all Ohio guard units which said state defense would be provided guardsmen involved in suits "arising from actions resulting from state active duty. Robert Tenenbaum, press aide for Gov. John Gilligan said he believed the memo referred to civil not criminal action. "The Gilligan administration can't require the attorney general to do anything," Tenenbaum said. "The attorney general is as independent as the governor and in those areas he controls he is the absolute authority." Meanwhile, George C. Smith, a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, said in Lima Tuesday he would provide a defense for the guardsmen if he held the office. And Rep. Kenneth Cox, D-41 Barberton, said he planned to introduce legislation in the House requiring the state to provide legal counsel for the soldiers.

Spring eluded Ohio again this morning, as temperatures dipped into the 20s and 30s. Youngstown was the chilly spot in the state, with a pre-dawn reading of 18 degrees. But improvement was on the way. High pressure was to give Ohio fair skies today and the sun was expected to warm afternoon temperatures to the low 40s near Lake Erie, the 50s in the central counties and the 60s along the Ohio River. Cloudiness was to increase tonight, with readings falling only into the 30s and 40s. Skies were to be mostly cloudy across the state Thursday in advance of another storm front. Temperatures were to remain on the mild side.

Cincy Schools Remain Struck

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — While half of Cincinnati's 3,000 public school teachers stayed home Tuesday, school officials said classrooms would remain open despite the strike. The strike entered its third day today. A crucial meeting of the Cincinnati Federation of Teachers (CFT) was held Tuesday night, but the group barred newsmen. Meanwhile, the board of education said that negotiations would not resume until teachers returned to their classrooms. The CFT, a rival of the official bargaining agent Cincinnati Teachers Association (CTA), could apply more pressure by backing the CTA-sponsored strike.

Man Identified In Fatal Blast

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Firemen identified a 21-year-old Dayton man, Delberg Aikins, as the victim in an explosion Tuesday that rocked the Monsanto Chemical Co. plant here. Four others injured in the blast that triggered fires, causing damage estimated at $250,000, were Richard Juterbeck of Mainville and Michael Widner, Thomas Hughes and Thomas Duercher, all of Dayton. Officials said Aikins was in a room 40-50 feet from a 2,000-gallon container of paint resin when it exploded. The other men were treated and released, company spokesmen said.

Osmium, the densest of all metals, is frequently used for paperweights.

Canada Cracks Down On US. Beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada has cracked down on the $100 million U.S. beef export market by requiring certification that imports contain none of the growth hormone DES. The order, which also applies to live animals, was announced Monday by the Canadian government. It requires that imports, including beef, veal, lamb and mutton, be certified by the government of the country of origin that the products never contained DES. But Agriculture Department officials say federal certification that meat had always been free of DES are not practicable and that farmers themselves are the only ones who can say with certainty the chemical was not used.

Inouye Says Contributions Returned

HONOLULU (AP) — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye said Monday he returned two campaign donations cited in the recent indictment of a Cleveland shipbuilder. George Steinbrenner III, board chairman of American Shipbuilding Co., was indicted for allegedly contributing company funds to the election campaigns of President Nixon, Inouye and other influential members of Congress. Inouye said he returned checks totaling $500 at the request of the donors, Robert Bartolme and Stanley Lepkowski. They were named as co-conspirators in the federal complaint but were not indicted. No specific reason was given when the two men asked that their checks be returned, the Hawaii Democrat said. But he believes it had nothing to do with the investigation that led to Steinbrenner's indictment. Inouye said his campaign staff also returned $5,160 donated by American Shipbuilding Co. executives. Reimbursement checks were delivered to Steinbrenner last September, he said. Inouye said he also returned an additional $5,000 in personal funds donated by Steinbrenner. Inouye said he met Steinbrenner in September, 1969, when they worked on a Democratic fund-raising dinner.

Glenn Agrees To TV Debate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democrat senatorial candidate John Glenn agreed Tuesday to meet his opponent Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, in a live television debate in Cleveland April 25. Earlier Tuesday, Metzenbaum challenged Glenn to a series of televised debates. A spokesman for Glenn said the former astronaut turned down Metzenbaum's request for a debate in Cincinnati May 1 because of a schedule conflict and was not aware of a proposal to debate in Columbus April 21.

Russian medical scientists linked sunspots and flu epidemics, while a Soviet agronomist detected a relationship between the spots and poor crops, according to the National Geographic Society.

The Food and Drug Administration banned DES — diethylstilbestrol — from use as a livestock growth booster more than a year ago. But a U.S. District Court recently held the order was illegal. Thus, DES now is permitted as a livestock feed additive or as an implant in the animal's body. Federal meat inspectors still monitor products for illegal traces of the chemical, which can show up in slaughtered carcasses if animals are not withdrawn from DES soon enough before they are marketed. Department officials said Tuesday they did not know to what extent livestock producers have returned to DES in their operations. Thus, one said, it is "virtually impossible" to estimate how much meat shipped to Canada might come from animals which had been exposed to the chemical. Canada is the largest foreign market for U.S. beef and slaughter cattle. In calendar 1973, sales of cattle for slaughter in Canada totaled 185,300 head worth about $71.2 million, up from 61,359 head valued at $18.7 million in 1972. Also last year, USDA officials said, Canada bought about 35 million pounds of U.S. beef valued at $36 million. That compared with 34.5 million pounds worth $29.4 million in 1972. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter said Tuesday in a statement that he was "extremely disappointed" by the Canadian action and that it constituted an embargo on U.S. cattle and beef products. "Canada has insisted that it can only accept certification by a full-time U.S. government employee who has periodically visited the ranches and

Make Energy From Trash

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Scrap metal and scrap paper recovery have been proposed as the first phase of a program to save money and make energy from Ohio's annual 1.8 million tons of trash. "Each year Ohio communities spend more than $300 million to bury or burn waste," Gov. John J. Gilligan said Tuesday, unveiling the program which he said will be presented to the 1975 Ohio General Assembly. As metropolitan areas run out of landfill space, residents will face bigger bills for hauling away garbage, he said. "Our ultimate goal is the elimination of the environmental problems now created by solid waste disposal and full recovery of recyclable and energy-producing wastes," the governor added. Ohio's Environmental Protection Agency drafted the proposal.

Padres Poor In 9-5 Defeat

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The San Diego Padres are leaving a sour taste in the mouth of their new owner that even some of his own garnished hamburgers can't erase.

Ray Kroc, the McDonald's burger tycoon, is finding out that he may be the king of baseball's hamburgers rather than the hamburger king and he sounded off publicly while his Padres were being chewed up by the Houston Astros in their home opener Tuesday night.

Kroc grabbed the public address system with the Padres trailing 9-2 in the eighth inning.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I suffer with you," he told a crowd of 39,083, second largest in San Diego's history. "I've never seen such stupid baseball playing in my life."

He was interrupted when a naked man jumped out of the stands and dashed across the field.

The winless Padres woke up long enough to score three runs in the eighth, but lost 9-5, their fourth straight defeat.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Atlanta Braves, minus Hank Aaron, were shelled by the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-2; the Cincinnati

Reds defeated the previously unbeaten San Francisco Giants 6-3 and the Chicago Cubs finally opened their season by blanking the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0.

Bad weather postponed the Montreal-Pittsburgh and St. Louis-New York games.

Cesar Cedeño drove in four runs and Larry Dierker, battling back from arm and shoulder problems, held San Diego to six hits and two runs in seven innings.

Yankees Blank Tigers, 3-0

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The people in Tiger Stadium seem to have the impression that streaking is something you do with your clothes off. The New York Yankees have a different idea.

While one nude man was swinging from the scoreboard in center field and another scampered across the outfield without his pants, the Yankees were extending a streak of their own with a 3-0 victory over the Tigers Tuesday afternoon.

and the Texas Rangers bombed the California Angels 10-2.

The Milwaukee-Cleveland and Baltimore-Boston games were postponed by bad weather.

Yankee pitchers Steve Kline, Fred Beene and Sparky Lyle held the Tigers to eight hits, handed pitching ace Mickey Lolich his second loss in two starts this season, and ruined the home opener in chilly Detroit before a crowd of 44,047.

over Chicago.

In eight innings, Blyleven scattered seven hits and struck out 10, but tired in the ninth and gave way to reliever Bill Campbell.

Carew built Twins runs in the first and second innings by singling and stealing second. He scored first on a sacrifice fly by Harmon Killebrew and later on a double by Bobby Darwin.

A's 6, Royals 4

Joe Rudi's third double of the game came with two outs in the ninth inning, driving in two runs and giving Oakland its triumph over Kansas City.

Dodgers 9, Braves 2

Aaron didn't play any baseball Tuesday night...and his 13 Atlanta teammates who got in the line-up didn't play much, either. With the game's all-time home run king and his record-breaking bat sitting it out following Monday night's historic 715th home run, the Braves were no match for Los Angeles.

The 40-year-old Aaron was held out because of cold weather. Rookie Rowland Office took his place in the Atlanta outfield and managed a single in four trips against Don Sutton and Mike Marshall, who held the Braves to seven hits, including Dave Johnson's first home run of the season.

The victory was the fourth in as many contests for New York, marking the first time since 1945 the team has gone unbeaten in the baseball season's opening four games.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins tripped the Chicago White Sox 3-1, the Oakland A's clipped the Kansas City Royals 6-4, Lou Piniella's first-inning single drove in two runs, and New York added a run in the seventh on Roy White's double and Elliott Maddox' single.

With the bases loaded, Rudi hit the first pitch from reliever Lindy McDaniel to right field.

Sal Bando's first home run of the season had given the A's a 4-3 lead in the top of the sixth, but Kansas City came back to tie in its half of the inning.

Reds 6, Giants 3

Joe Morgan's tie-breaking, run-scoring single with two out in the sixth inning helped Cincinnati beat San Francisco.

Cesar Geronimo opened the decisive inning with a triple off Tom Bradley but Cincinnati pitcher Jack Billingham and Pete Rose struck out before Morgan came through with his single.

Cincinnati Reds Defeat Giants, 6-3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are best known for their awesome batting attack, yet Manager Sparky Anderson points to their pitching as the key to the club's 1974 pennant plans.

Despite a solid 15-hit attack in Tuesday night's 6-3 victory over the previously unbeaten San Francisco Giants, Anderson praised his bullpen following Pedro Borbon's three-inning shutout stint.

Anderson, whose Reds concluded the three-game series with the Giants this afternoon, had good reason to rave about his relievers—they haven't allowed a run in 20 1-3 innings this season.

"Batting can't carry you," Anderson said. "If it could, teams like Pittsburgh and Boston would have won lots of pennants in recent years."

Miller, 26, who won the U.S. Open last year, has dominated the regular tour this year. He scored a record sweep of the first three titles of the year and is the year's leading money winner with almost $150,000—a record for this stage of the season.

Rangers 10, Angels 2

California's Nolan Ryan, who issued 10 walks over eight innings in his first start, continued to have control trouble and ended up on the short end of a 10-2 score Tuesday.

Ryan walked the first three batters in the second inning. Then Joe Lovitto scored two with a double and Rich Billings walked before Dave Nelson and Toby Harrah delivered runscoring singles to knock out Ryan.

Cubs 2, Phillies 0

After having their first two scheduled games postponed in Montreal, the Cubs came home and defeated the Phillies behind Bill Bonham's four-hit, nine-strikeout pitching, his first major league shutout.

Bonham held the Phils hitless until pitcher Ron Schueeler's one-out scratch single in the sixth.

Rhode Island Scores Win In AHL Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Rhode Island Reds can wrap up their Northern Division semi-final playoffs in the American Hockey League Friday night when they meet the Nova Scotia Voyageurs at Halifax.

They took a 3-0 series advantage Tuesday night, scoring three goals in the final period for a 4-1 decision over the Voyageurs.

"That's how the Mets got to the World Series last year and that's how the Dodgers will be right up there this September," he added. "With those starters and Mike Marshall and Jim Brewer in the bullpen, they don't need much hitting."

Anderson, of course, feels the Reds will be in the race, too, especially if the four-man relief crew of righthanders Borbon and Clay Carroll and southpaws Tom Hall and Fred Norman come through.

But over and above them all looms the awesome figure of Jack Nicklaus, the domineering character in the international cast assembled for the 38th Masters Golf Tournament.

The 72-hole tee, generally acknowledged as one of the world's premier sports events, gets underway Thursday on flower-bedecked Augusta National Golf Course.

Among the other young stars are: —Jerry Heard, golf's whistling man, who won the Citrus Open, then finished second and third in his next two starts; —Hubert Green, a two-time winner this year;

—John Mahaffey, who hasn't won this season but has finished second twice, third and fourth once;

Ryan walked the first three batters in the second inning. Then Joe Lovitto scored two with a double and Rich Billings walked before Dave Nelson and Toby Harrah delivered runscoring singles to knock out Ryan.

Reliever Skip Lockwood managed to strike out Alex Johnson, but Jeff Burroughs powered a grand slam home over the fence in left-center field to highlight the nine-run Texas outburst.

Lee Stanton homered for the Angels.

Despite a solid 15-hit attack in Tuesday night's 6-3 victory over the previously unbeaten San Francisco Giants, Anderson praised his bullpen following Pedro Borbon's three-inning

They took a 3-0 series advantage Tuesday night, scoring three goals in the final period for a 4-1 decision over the Voyageurs.

In other playoff action, the Baltimore Clippers avenged a 10-0 weekend drubbing with a 4-2 victory over the Richmond Robins to take a 2-1 edge in Southern Division playoffs, and the Hershey Bears took a 2-1 advantage in their Southern Division playoffs with a last second, 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Swords.

"I'm going to be using my bullpen a lot more this season," Anderson said. "I'm fortunate to have flexibility with two lefties and two righties, so I'm going to be able to go into the hole and stop people."

"That's how the Mets got to the World Series last year and that's how the Dodgers will be right up there this September," he added. "With those starters and Mike Marshall and Jim Brewer in the bullpen, they don't need much hitting."

An elite field of 79 of the world's best shotmakers—including 13 foreign players, 11 American amateurs and 55 U.S. professionals—are primed to test the 7,020-yard par-72 layout.

The powerful Nicklaus, considered by many to be the finest player the game has ever seen, has won this tournament four times, a record he shares with Arnold Palmer. And in his last three starts here he's been second, first and third, in that order.

—Lanny Wadkins, who set money-winning records in each of his first two seasons on the tour and is one of the game's most fiercely competitive players, and —Ben Crenshaw, the young Texan who has finished second twice this year and hit the tour with more impact than any rookie since Nicklaus.

National League scores Tuesday: Chicago Cubs 2, Philadelphia Phillies 0; Los Angeles Dodgers 9, Atlanta Braves 2; Houston Astros 9, San Diego Padres 5, and Cincinnati Reds 6, San Francisco Giants 3. The Montreal-Pittsburgh and St. Louis-New York games were postponed by rain.

Tribe Set For Opener With Brewers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indian Manager Ken Aspromonte said he felt fine as the Tribe prepared for their scheduled home opener against the Milwaukee Brewers today.

The Indians had an unexpected day of rest after losing their first three games to the New York Yankees. Snow forced the Indians to cancel the previous opener set for Tuesday.

Baltimore plays at Richmond tonight and Rochester, with a 2-0 lead over the Nighthawks, travels to New Haven.

Doug Horbul broke open a 1-1 deadlock in the finale with two power play goals and Brian Marchinko added another into an open net at 18:53 to give Rhode Island the victory.

Peter Sullivan and Larry Sacharuk traded second period goals.

"I'm going to be using my bullpen a lot more this season," Anderson said. "I'm fortunate to have flexibility with two lefties and two righties, so I'm going to be able to go into the hole and stop people."

Boston Celtics Beat Braves In NBA Playoff Tilt, 100-97

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Would you believe Bob McAdoo, the National Basketball Association scoring champion, a scared player?

It happened Tuesday night—and because of it, his Buffalo Braves were beaten by the Boston Celtics.

Chicago Bulls built a 25-point second-quarter lead, then withstood a late Detroit rally and beat the Pistons 98-94 for a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven NBA Western Conference semifinal series.

Two playoff games are scheduled tonight. The New York Knicks, with a 3-2 lead over Capital in their NBA East semifinal, face the Bullets at Landover, Md.; and the Indiana Pacers, leading San Antonio 3-2 in their American Basketball Association West Division semifinal, meet the Spurs in Texas.

Philadelphia Tops Flames In NHL Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers delivered a message to the Atlanta Flames Tuesday night—to win in the Stanley Cup Playoffs you have to attack as well as defend.

"They didn't challenge us," said Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero after his team posted a 4-1 victory to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven first round National Hockey League playoff series.

Aspromonte, who is beginning his third year as field marshal of the Tribe, added, "we are a much better ball club than we've shown so far. It was just one of those things in New York. We'll straighten out pretty soon."

"I was as nervous as I've ever been," McAdoo admitted unabashedly after scoring a mere 16 points on a woeful five-for-20 shooting performance from the floor and six of nine from the free throw line during the Braves' 100-97 loss that gave the Celtics a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series.

"I guess it's what you'd call pressure," said the 6-foot-10 McAdoo, who had averaged 30.6 points per game during the regular season and 33 points in the first four games against the Celtics. "I tried to concentrate on my defense and not worry about offense."

The Utah Stars, in the West, and the New York Nets and Kentucky Colonels, in the East, already have advanced to the divisional finals in the ABA.

The Milwaukee Bucks are the only NBA team to have reached the conference finals so far, eliminating the Los Angeles Lakers in the West.

McAdoo, also the NBA's third leading rebounder during the season with a 15.1 average, managed only 10 rebounds in his sub-par effort against the Celtics.

Atlanta played the Flyers to a 2-2 standstill during the regular season, but they were never a threat in the nationally-televised game. The Flames at times appeared to be sleepwalking, unable to get the puck out of their own zone.

As the Flyers' Barry Ashbee put it, "the one goal they (Atlanta) scored was a fluke." It came with the score 3-0, on a 50-footer by Bob Murray.

Aspromonte, who is beginning his third year as field marshal of the Tribe, added, "we are a much better ball club than we've shown so far. It was just one of those things in New York. We'll straighten out pretty soon."

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gill Johansson, a 27-year-old righthander from Naperville, Ill., bagged a perfect 300 game Tuesday in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Right behind him was Dennis Campbell, 25, a truck driver from Alsip, Ill., who bowled a 299 game.

In World Hockey League playoff action, the Toronto Toros edged the Cleveland Crusaders 4-3 and the Chicago Cougars beat the New England Whalers 8-6.

Shero's Flyers had won the West Division title with aggressive offensive play, backed up by superior goaltending from Bernie Parent. The Flames wound up fourth in the West, playing a defensive style that featured sitting on the puck until they got a scoring break.

Larry Laub Leads Bowling

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The 1974 Professional Bowlers Association winter tour has come to an end and Larry Laub of Santa Rosa, Calif., is at the top of the money list.

Laub won $49,260 in 13 stops during the 14 tournament season. Laub finished fifth in the $125,000 Tournament of Champions last week and collected $4,000 to push him into the lead.

"I'm going to be using my bullpen a lot more this season," Anderson said. "I'm fortunate to have flexibility with two lefties and two righties, so I'm going to be able to go into the hole and stop people."

Tax Laws Used By Nixon Aides, Weicker Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service used the nation's tax laws as weapons against militant and radical groups working against President Nixon's policies, according to memos made public by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn.

The memos chronicled the creation during the first year of the Nixon administration of a special IRS task force aimed at collecting intelligence about individuals and groups identified variously as activist, ideological, radical, militant or subversive.

Weicker told a joint session of three Senate subcommittees he has documents indicating the effort was part of an overall plan to create a centralized intelligence gathering apparatus aimed at bringing pressure to bear on organizations and persons hostile to Nixon.

One link in the intelligence chain was former New York City detective Anthony T. Ulasewicz who investigated a wide variety of politicians, including some Republicans, during a three-year undercover mission for the White House, Weicker said.

Weicker read into the record a summary of Ulasewicz's efforts to obtain what Weicker called "political dirt" on such politicians as Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.; Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine; and House Speaker Carl Albert.

Ulasewicz once investigated reports that Donald M. Nixon Jr., the President's nephew, was involved in drugs and sex parties, Weicker said.

The summary of Ulasewicz's executive session testimony before the Watergate committee said there was "some concern about bribery" but did not disclose the results of the investigation of the President's nephew.

In Hadley, N.Y., Ulasewicz said he did not investigate all the people Weicker said he did and he denied having any access to government records or information.

Weicker said key White House aides had such free access to IRS confidential files that they were able to obtain individual income tax records with the ease and convenience of a lending library.

Walkout Hits Borg Warner

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Officials on both sides Tuesday refused to confirm that a wildcat strike was triggered by suspension of two union workers from the Borg Warner vitrous china plant in suburban Ontario.

Union and management met after night shift workers staged a walkout at 4 a.m. The plant's 280 members of International Union of Electrical Workers Local 719 refused to cross picket lines.

Home Loan Rule Blasted

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—James Nolan, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, says the Cleveland Trust Co. should rescind its "hard-nosed" policy on homeowners' loans.

Cleveland Trust announced this week that it will boost the minimum down payment on home mortgages to one-third.

Nolan said Tuesday night in campaign appearances before the Lyndhurst and Bedford Democratic clubs that Cleveland Trust should "rescind this policy and re-examine their reasoning."

He said it was "unconscionable for Ohio's largest and wealthiest bank to take this action making it more difficult for families to buy and become home owners."

Nolan added that he believes the bank is trying to put pressure on the State Legislature to lift the eight per cent ceiling on loans.

Train Derails

BLOOMINGBURG, Ohio (AP)—Officials blamed a defective axle-coupling bar on the derailment Tuesday of 17 cars of a 32-car B&O freight train.

There were no injuries.

The derailed cars carried coke and coal.

Gas-Saving Gadgets Don't Prove Worth

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
"Save up to 2 gallons of gas every hour you're on the highway!"
"Burn water in your car...up to 5 more miles per gallon."
"Amazing new ignition activator...multiplies spark to give... better gas mileage."

Those claims for three devices advertised in an automotive parts catalog are typical of the benefits promised motorists by companies that sell so-called gas savers.
In a time of shortages and higher gasoline prices, promoters of such devices appear to have increased their sales efforts in some states. But do the gadgets really deliver?

"I don't know of anything that motorists can attach that will improve their mileage a significant amount," says automotive engineer Bob Knoll, head of Consumers Union's auto test division.
The Pennsylvania Bureau of Consumer Protection has issued a general warning to motorists to be wary of claims that various gadgets will improve gas mileage.
And state attorneys general in California, Arkansas, Kansas and Minnesota have looked into the advertising of various manufacturers. In some cases they have taken or threatened legal action over the claims.

Particularly popular among manufacturers this year are devices that mix water with the gasoline.
A shop near Albany, N.Y., reported installing about 300 such devices which it guarantees will increase a car's mileage from 1.4 to 5 miles per gallon. It costs $49.50 plus $20 installation.
"They're going like gangbusters," said a spokesman for the shop.
A spokesman for General Motors, however, said its engineers "know of no fuel economy benefits from water injection."
Water injection was used in some World War II fighter planes, but the purpose was to prevent preignition under heavy loads and not to obtain economy, the GM spokesman said.

Explorers Looking Under Rockies

DENVER (AP) — Explorers for energy fuels are trying to tap new sources under a 2,000-mile stretch of Burlington Northern's railroad right-of-way through the Rocky Mountains.
It's a $3.5-million project, started in January and making use of four million acres of BN property in Montana and North Dakota. It is one of the largest gas and oil exploration ventures ever undertaken in the Rockies. Work is being done by four geophysical contractors and will take about one year.

Laos Reds Open Drive On Highway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
About 150 North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops have launched a series of attacks along a strategic highway in southern Laos, sources in the capital said today.
It was the first reported cease-fire violation since the Pathet Lao joined a coalition government with the conservative-neutralist regime in Vientiane last Friday.
The sources said the Communist forces made their first attack Sunday along a stretch of Highway 13 about 250 miles southeast of Vientiane and several miles inland from the Mekong River border with Thailand.

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak of the Vientiane faction protested the attack to a Pathet Lao minister today at the first meeting of the new coalition cabinet, the sources reported.

Meanwhile, in Cambodia, government troops battled through insurgent forces along Kampot's shipping channel and cleared one bank of the besieged town's main supply route after four days of heavy fighting, military sources reported today.

The sources said about 500 men were landed on the east bank of the four-mile channel from the Gulf of Thailand and fought their way into the town. Navy gunboats had blasted Khmer Rouge positions along the 300-yard-wide channel earlier.
Kampot, 85 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, has been under Khmer Rouge pressure for more than a month. But one Western military observer said the insurgents appeared to be pulling back a bit, "possibly for a rest."

In Saigon, South Vietnam's delegation to the Joint Military Commission said it proposed a cease-fire at the besieged government bases of Duc Hue, near the Cambodian border 35 miles northwest of Saigon, and Tong Le Chan, 50 miles north of the capital. The delegation said it proposed the truce to allow the evacuation of wounded and burial of the dead.

The Viet Cong rejected the request, calling it a trick by the Saigon administration to gain public support while pursuing "land-grabbing operations."

A spokesman for the Saigon command said the Communists were attacking Duc Hue and other positions in the area in an attempt to reopen supply routes from Cambodia.

Militants Object Of IRS Attention

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service until recently was prepared to audit the taxes of anyone attending a rock festival or burning his draft card, according to an IRS internal memo.

The memo was made public Tuesday by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn. It is a January 1973 status report on what was called a special compliance group set up inside IRS to collect intelligence information on all persons or groups advocating so-called extremist views.

The unit was set up in the first year of the Nixon administration and by 1973, according to the memo, had amassed 8,000 files on individuals and 3,000 on organizations. It had collected 12,000 classified documents and had compiled a list of 16,000 groups or individuals "who fall into the category of posing a threat and probability of tax violations," the IRS memo said.

"The magnitude and potential of this facility is unlimited," the memo said. "A recent audit supports the conclusion that this function offers high potential as a deterrent to widespread tax violation by activist groups."

The memo was signed by John J. Flynn, regional commissioner of the North Atlantic region of the IRS. It was addressed to IRS directors.

The document said that the IRS was collecting information, with the help of law enforcement agencies, on so-called violent groups.

It also said that members of non-violent groups also were being included.

"Included are those who publicly destroy and burn draft cards, destroy Selective Service records, participate in and organize May Day demonstrations, organize and attend rock festivals which attract youth and narcotics..." the memo said.

It also said IRS agents were interested in the tax returns of those aiding in the sale of firearms to the Irish Republican Army, who travel to Cuba, Algeria or North Vietnam or who are engaged in "inciting commotion and resistance to authority by encouraging defectors in the Armed Forces to enter into alliances to subvert this nation..." the memo said.

Weicker said Monday that the special unit was dismantled in August 1973 at the same time that allegations were being made before the Senate Watergate committee that the White House had used the IRS to benefit President Nixon's friends and to punish his political "enemies."

Ohio Army Deserter Stays In Australia; Fears Prison

MALVERNE, Ohio (AP)— Mrs. Russell James says her son, Russell, "would like to come home" from Australia, but she fears U.S. officials would put him in prison to make an example of him as a Vietnam War deserter.

Russell F. James, 24, walked away from the U.S. Army while on leave in Australia 1969. He had been held by Sidney authorities for the past month, but Mrs. James said her son told her by telephone Tuesday that Australian officials have decided not to honor a U.S. request for his deportation and will grant him citizenship.

She said her son and his wife, Marie, whom he met in Australia, manage a small hotel in Sidney.

"He has the wife and his son to think about," said Mrs. James. "I told him I was behind him 100 per cent...."

"It's not that he's turning his back on his country," she added. "He feels that it's for a good reason."

Mrs. James said her son enlisted in 1967 at the age of 17 and served 1½ years in Vietnam. He was wounded in the leg by shrapnel.

He re-enlisted and planned to make the Army his career, but "something must have happened in that time to make him change his mind," said Mrs. James.

She said he signed up for an additional six months in Vietnam so he could come home for Christmas in 1968. That was the last time his parents saw him.

James went to Sidney on leave in 1969 and stayed there.

Mrs. James said her son told her that U.S. officials have threatened to "make an example" of him if he returned.

"I'd like to have him home, but not that way," she said.

"And I wouldn't take their word if they told me they wouldn't do anything if he was to come home. That's a terrible way to feel about your country, isn't it?"

Lake Waters Receding

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Officials said major roads through Ottawa County were open again today, with the exception of Ohio 2, as flood waters continued to recede.

School administrators planned to reopen classes today after most of the outlying schools resumed operations Tuesday.

Entire families were stranded Monday in the eighth major flood to hit the area in 18 months, sheriff's deputies reported, when Lake Erie's waters climbed more than 100 inches.

Damages in the county were expected to rise again into the tens of thousands of dollars, especially along lake shore properties.

But Port Clinton Mayor John Fritz said inside the city limits, only one basement was threatened and only one road will need rebuilding.

"Of course, we lost our lake shore and all the debris will have to be cleaned up," he said.

Metzenbaum, Taft Vote Same

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): High favorable influences should give you new incentive, spur your ambitions, give you surer appreciation of the many benefits within your reach.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Do not sell the opposition short, and do not what co-workers have to offer. You may experience tendencies toward restlessness now. Curb them, and you can attain much.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Certain suggestions must be ignored, others accepted quickly. The Geminian's gift of seeing through a maze of complexities should result in a field day.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): There is a tendency toward vacillation. Stabilize, recognize flaws. No matter how busy, make the time necessary to put things across cleverly—as YOU can.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may find that you have cluttered your schedule with a lot of nonessentials. Revise, cut them out, and eliminate waste motion, too. Stay on your course!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): "Where there's a will, there's a way." That should be this day's slogan. You can choose your activities from any one of several areas, but stay within reasonable limits.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): The position of Venus suggests that you stress your innate artistry and create those clever "twists" which make the difference between the so-so and top attainment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): You may have a tendency to be too impressionable now. Avoid becoming involved in ticklish situations into which you could be trapped, and which could disturb you later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): In both business and financial matters, use only time-tested procedures. Don't attempt anything risky. And DON'T try for the unobtainable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be discriminating. No matter what the situation, don't judge on surface appearances only. Don't completely disregard first impressions of strangers, however.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): This should be a highly profitable day for those of you who capitalize on your innate imagination and originality. In the personal field, emotions may rise and fall, so maintain equilibrium and poise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

20): Benefits indicated if you are alert, but opportunities could be lost through indifference or tendencies toward extremism.

YOU BORN TODAY are courageous, energetic and ambitious. Being a born leader, others follow you, and your opinions carry weight, so it's important that you never express yourself impulsively, without careful forethought. You are extremely versatile and could make a name for yourself in many fields—but especially in the law, politics and statesmanship, where your leadership and dynamic personality would be tremendous assets. You could also excel in the world of education—making a forceful and brilliant teacher—if you can curb tendencies to be overreacting with those under your supervision. Other careers suited to your talents: music, literature and science. Birthdate of: Charles Evans Hughes and Edward Everett, U.S. statesmen.

NOBODY'S SPOOL—Tom Sweeney, jr., 7, of Athens, Ohio, finds a cable spool more challenging, and more fun, than a bike.

The results of experiments carried out in 1943 have shown that the fastest messages transmitted by the nervous system travel at 265 m.p.h. With advancing age, impulses are carried 15 per cent more slowly.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — While barely in their teens, the twin daughters of artist Harry Liebovitz already were regulars in the criminal courts of Philadelphia — as budding sketch artists drawing the fine line of law.

Now they're grown, married, of middle age. Each has three children. But they're still courtroom regulars, still sketching away. Only now their work is seen by millions on ABC and NBC television news programs.

Oddly enough, neither Ida Libby Dengrove of NBC nor Freda L. Reiter of ABC has covered the same trial in the three years they've worked — on a free-lance basis — for their networks. But it almost happened recently.

Mrs. Reiter said she nearly was assigned the federal court trial here of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans. Her sister has sketched the trial for nearly eight weeks.

Alas, an ABC News executive in Washington, where Mrs. Reiter has sketched Watergate trials since January 1973, "would not let me go," she said. "He felt I was covering Watergate completely and he wanted me here on a full-time basis."

The sisters are part of a small network art colony whose specialized work is lucrative, if sporadic. Network officials won't say what the pay is, but industry sources say it goes as high as $100 a day.

Only NBC says it has a full-time sketch staff under contract — seven artists, augmented by a few first-call freelancers like Ida Dengrove. CBS says it regularly calls on five freelancers, while ABC uses four of the breed.

Mrs. Reiter and her sister said they began courtroom sketching for the networks after years of similar work for a newspaper in their hometown of Philadelphia, where they attended separate art schools.

Mrs. Dengrove says she's been a bit busy of late, sketching the Mitchell-Stans trial for not only the "NBC Evening News," but also the "Today" show and the two local evening news show of WNBC-TV here.

Does she have to do different sketches for each show?

"Well, there are times when each reporter seems to have a different slant for the story, and I do try to accommodate them the best I can," she said. "But it varies. 'Usually before the (court) session we'll talk a little bit about what they want,'" added Mrs. Dengrove. She says it usually takes her 30 minutes to do an entire court scene "with the whole cast of characters."

Like her sister, Mrs. Dengrove says she uses pastels, charcoal pencils and a 14-by-17 sketch pad while working. She's done as many as 62 sketches and as few as three in a day at the Mitchell-Stans trial.

Predict Starvation In Asia And Africa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Widespread, persistent starvation may hit South Asia and Africa within 10 years unless those areas cut their population growth and get massive aid, say the authors of a new computer study.

The grim warning came from Mihail Mesarovic, director of the Systems Research Center of Case Western Reserve University, and Eduard Pestel, professor of engineering at the Technical University of Hannover, Germany.

Their findings parallel a report by the Overseas Development Council, which warned that Asia could face famine next year. But the new report goes far beyond the council study, which recommended foreign aid in the form of food, fertilizer and agricultural help.

In an interview Tuesday, Mesarovic and Pestel said food shipments and agricultural aid alone cannot stave off starvation in South Asia and Africa.

Pestel estimated the industrialized nations would have to provide some $700 billion of investment aid over the next 50 years to prevent starvation, plus perhaps an equal amount to prevent massive unemployment in the underdeveloped world.

Mesarovic and Pestel conducted their computerized studies, comparing the worldwide effects of various economic and population policies, for the Club of Rome, a private international study group.

Some of Mesarovic and Pestel's preliminary findings:

—In South Asia even moderately successful population control would not keep population from outracing food supply. Without help, starvation levels would be reached by around 1985 with no end in sight.

—Africa would face a similar fate, but South America could, "if it acts wisely," meet its own food needs.

—To prevent widespread starvation, developed nations must give financial aid to both agriculture and industrialization in the underdeveloped countries and accept their industrial entry into world markets. The underdeveloped nations themselves must apply effective controls on population growth.

In a summary of their study, Mesarovic and Pestel call for rapid establishment of a "global alert system" and a framework to develop solutions in advance of developing problems.

Arab Oil Flows Into U.S. Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big tanker-load of Arab oil has reached the United States in the first major shipment received since the lifting last month of the Arab oil embargo.

The Federal Energy Office announced Tuesday that the Italian tanker Elba Lolligeti has arrived at Norfolk, Va., carrying 344,000 barrels of crude oil from Algeria.

Exxon Corp. said its own initial shipment of Mideast oil since resumption of Arab supplies — 50,000 barrels of crude aboard the Esso Barcelona — was due to arrive today in New York Harbor.

Anticipating the renewed availability of Arab oil, the FEO has told U.S. petroleum companies to draw upon current inventories to boost gasoline allocations for the month of April.

Meanwhile, the American Automobile Association said its latest survey shows that motorists will find it easier to obtain gasoline this week, but they will probably be paying more per gallon.

The AAA's weekly spot check of some 6,000 service stations across the nation found that since the week before, the average price of regular gasoline has climbed a penny to 54 cents a gallon. Premium average 57 cents per gallon, the survey reported.

Highest average prices for regular gas were 56 cents in Hawaii, Illinois, New York and South Carolina while peak prices for premium reached 60 cents a gallon in Illinois, New York and Hawaii, according to the AAA.

In other energy-related developments:

—Federal energy chief William E. Simon said the Environmental Protection Agency is too restrictive in its standards for utilities which convert to coal for generating electricity. He said EPA policy will not encourage increased use and production of coal.

—Deputy energy chief John C. Sawhill said more federal funds may be required to offset the impact of rising fuel costs on the aged.

—The House Ways and Means Committee voted to retain the 22 per cent depletion allowance for natural gas shipped across state lines.

Iraq Claims U.S. Arming Rebel Kurds

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq has accused the United States and Iran of supplying arms to the rebel Kurds.

"We are aware of massive military assistance rebel Kurdish leaders in the mountains of the north are getting from the United States via Iran," Vice President Saddam Hussein told a news conference Tuesday. "This is not a surprise for us."

He also charged Iran with a troop buildup along Iraq's eastern border to "encourage Kurdish insurgents in our north."

"But we are prepared to fight hard on all fronts...and shall carry the fighting into the territory of any country that fights us," Hussein declared.

Soviet-backed Iraq and American-armed Iran have fought a series of border clashes in the past three months.

Hussein, generally considered the strongman of Iraq's ruling Baath Socialist party, spoke to Lebanese reporters in Baghdad.

He said the 95,000-man Iraqi army has refrained from moving against the estimated 20,000-man Pesh Merga, the army of the Kurdish leader, Mulla Mustafa Barzani.

But reports in the Arab press say an armored division supported by commando units with helicopters have moved close to the Rawanduz region, where Barzani has set up headquarters.

Barzani, the 70-year-old Kurdish leader, last month rejected a government plan to set up an autonomous region for the 2.3 million Kurds because the government refused to include the Kirkuk oil fields in it.

Legion Urges Paid Tuition For Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Legion proposed today that Congress pay up to $1,000 a year in tuition and fees for Vietnam-era veterans so they will have a wider choice of schools they can afford to attend.

Its views were presented by E. H. Golembieski, director of national veterans affairs and rehabilitation commission of the legion, in testimony prepared for the Senate Veterans Committee.

The committee has before it a bill to increase monthly payments to the veterans by 25 per cent and to set up a loan program as a supplement.

The House has passed a 13 per cent increase, higher than the 8 per cent President Nixon proposed. The administration opposes any form of tuition-fee grant.

The legion's proposal is one of the most generous offered so far to provide a tuition payment system as well as a monthly stipend similar to that of post-World War II days.

Golembieski said Vietnamera veterans, unlike World War II veterans, are being denied a wide degree of choice as to which institution of higher education they wish to attend.

For a veteran going to college half-time or more, the legion's plan would authorize the Veterans Administration to make direct payments to colleges for tuition and fees, books and other expenses except living and travel expenses.

The charges would have to be the same as those charged nonveterans enrolled in the same courses, but not over $1,000 for an ordinary school year.

payment of income taxes," the 42-year-old state representative said. "His being here just joins the issue for me."

Sparling, who says the record of the Nixon administration is a "false issue," spotlights his years as Harvey's aide and criticizes Traxler's absentee record in the Michigan House.

The 213,600 registered voters, meanwhile, are showing little outward interest in the campaign.

House Committee Receives 'Maybe' To Tape Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House Judiciary Committee met in a mood of anger and resentment today to consider a White House proposal to wait two more weeks before replying to the committee's request for tapes of presidential conversations.

At separate party caucuses, both Republicans and Democrats called the White House letter postponing any response until April 22 unsatisfactory. Individual members talked of issuing a subpoena for the material.

Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., scheduled a full committee meeting Thursday for whatever action the committee wants to take.

The White House said Tuesday that "additional materials" would be given to the committee sometime after Congress returns from its Easter recess April 22, but it didn't say what the material would be.

James D. St. Clair, who is in charge of President Nixon's defense against impeachment, sent a letter to the committee. St. Clair said the White House still is reviewing the request for the taped talks between Nixon and his chief aides about the time the Watergate cover-up was becoming known last year.

"We expect that the review can be completed by the end of the Easter recess and that the additional materials furnished at that time will permit the committee to complete its inquiry promptly," he said.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., D-N.J., had no immediate comment on St. Clair's letter, which was not delivered until after the House had adjourned and most members had left. The committee had demanded the reply by Tuesday "at the latest" as to whether the tapes would be forthcoming.

Rodino said last week he thought the committee had waited long enough and that he would consider asking it to issue a subpoena for the tapes if there was not a satisfactory answer by Tuesday.

He is expected to convene the committee Thursday to consider St. Clair's letter. The promise that appears implicit in it to deliver some material after April 22 may be enough to head off demands for a subpoena at this time.

"We'll probably acquiesce," said Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., a senior committee Republican, who expressed disappointment at the White House response. "I don't think we're very anxious to face the alternatives."

Another member, Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., said the panel has three options: "One is to go whole hog for a subpoena now, two is to give Rodino and (senior committee Republican Edward) Hutchinson standby power to subpoena, or three to cancel the recess for the committee and meet next Tuesday."

"I'm in favor of canceling the recess, forcing the issue," Drinan said.

Although the request remains unanswered, committee counsel John Doar told Democratic committee members Tuesday he is prepared to start presenting evidence gathered by the staff to the committee May 7. The committee has received 19 tapes and over 700 documents from the White House and also has been given secret grand jury evidence relating to Nixon's role in the Watergate cover-up.
